Spy Suspect

Taken en route to Paris by Nazi secret police, the beautiful Countess Borgia Wielopolska, pictured laughing above, faced trial for her life as a spy. In the terrifying Moabit prison near Berlin, even her husband was not permitted to visit her. Member of Poland's noblest house, the Countess is noted for her beauty and fashionable dress, and is a favorite of Warsaw's social circles. Friends blamed her arrest on the fact that she recently entertained a bitter enemy of Hitler and foresaw international complications.

UNION CHARGE IRKS SENATORS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(UP)—A joint senate labor and commerce committee criticized maritime union representatives for putting into the record a charge that Sen. Royal S. Copeland, D., N. Y., had made a "lying statement" regarding the crew of the S. S. President Hoover.

Ralph Emerson, legislative representative of the C.I.O. maritime union, read a telegram from Robert Fitzgerald, high union official at San Francisco, stating that a union meeting had condemned Copeland for "lying statements" that some members of the Hoover crew were drunk after the ship was grounded off Formosa. The telegram demanded a retrial.

ANAHEIM DRIVER DRAWS $400 FINE

A $400 fine was assessed today against Edward Maher, 21, Anaheim, who was arrested early Sunday morning by deputy sheriffs on a drunk driving charge.

The fine and a six months' suspended county jail term were administered by Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court. Maher's driver's license was suspended indefinitely, until he can furnish bond to insure against future drunk driving, or accidents.

No other car was involved when Maher was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Fred Swayze and Ed Hoffman at Santa Ana boulevard and Broadway. Maher was ordered to make $50 per month payments for eight months, into the justice court.

Sentences in the illegal entry cases ranged from one to five years, with Jesus Gutierrez, arrested in Calexico, receiving the stiffest sentence.

Victims Of Plane Crash Removed

PASSENGERS ON AIRLINER "CREMATED"

BOZEMAN, Mont., Jan. 11.—(UP)—Forest rangers and ranchers today began removing the bodies of ten men who died when a North-west Airlines luxury liner crashed and burst into flames during a blizzard in rugged Bridger canyon yesterday.

The bodies of the two pilots and eight passengers aboard the wrecked plane were to be hauled on sleds three and one-half miles to the Albert Nikles ranch. From there they will be driven to a Bozeman mortuary.

There was only a light snow and steady breeze today, in contrast to the swirling blizzard which enveloped the canyon last night.

Plane Torn Badly
Sheriff Lovitt Westlake, who with Coroner Howard Nelson, visited the crash last night to supervise removal of the bodies, said the plane was "torn up something fierce."

"All but one of the bodies was burned so you couldn't recognize them."

On the scene for a preliminary investigation of the disaster were J. A. Nee, district technician for the bureau of air commerce; J. T. Tollbridge, assistant to Nee; R. L. Smith, Northwest Airlines investigator, and Albert Olson, pilot for the airline.

ACTIVE RETAIL YEAR PLANNED

Plans for one of the most active years in the history of the Retail Division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce were in preparation today following an organization session of the group here this morning at which George Spielman was elected chairman of the division for 1938.

A number of us have been working on a Calendar of Events for the coming year," Spielman said today, "and we have one of the most ambitious programs ever planned."

Other members of the board who will work with Spielman are Walter Swanberger, Stewart C. Scouler, Samuel Hart, Leonard Hurst, Fred Newcomb, Plummer Bruns, Leonard Stein, Robert Harness and Leonid Gorznan.

INCREASE IN PLEAS FOR FARM AID SEEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace told the Senate unemployment committee today that appeals for rural relief have risen steadily since July, despite bumper crops.

He said that because of increased farm production the farm security administration was able to drop from its grant rolls most farmers who had been carried through last winter and spring.

"However, since last July," Wallace said, "farm families, particularly in the great plains, have increased their demands or grants because of dry weather over half a dozen states. Wallace said there is a 'very real need' of continued assistance in portions of Montana, Wyoming, North Dakota, South Dakota, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas and Nebraska because of 'either complete or nearly complete crop failures.'"

$22,000 Damage Suit Is Settled

The $22,000 damage suit filed by Patty Horning, 16, against Wallace H. Gage, in whose car she was injured when he drove through a herd of cattle on Orangethorpe avenue last Feb. 13, was settled out of court last yesterday, after trial of the action had started. It was reported that the girl obtained a $300 settlement.

She had sued Gage and his mother, Mrs. Elyne McComber; also Mr. and Mrs. James Kasbian and Tony Manco, owners of the cattle. The settlement was made with Gage and Mrs. McComber.

Supervisors Rebuffed By Farm Group

Efforts by county supervisors to dictate the assignments of sheriff's deputies before they would approve a request from agricultural and civic interests for five additional deputies, today were rebuffed by members of the delegation before the board, who declared their faith in the sheriff's ability to plan the protection program adequately, to give agriculture the protection it asked, not only on the farm, but on the highways. Action was slated late today.

Aroused by threats to interfere with the movement of farm produce on the highways, a delegation headed by Carl V. Newman, of the San Joaquin Fruit company, today presented the request to the board for five more deputies. Newman explained that, while his group are heavy taxpayers and appreciate efforts to keep taxes down, they believe it would be economy to prepare, ahead of harvest time, for

HURL CHARGES IN ROAD FIGHT

With charges and counter-charges filling the air, Chairman Willard Smith set 2 p. m., Jan. 18, as the time for hearing testimony relative to the opening of Haster street, between Manchester boulevard and 101 highway.

Ranchers who have lived in the district for as many as 20 years declared that the road has been used as a public thoroughfare for as long as they can remember and has never been posted by the railroad company. On the other hand C. M. McNeese, owner of the property through which the road passes, claims that it is private property and had been posted by the Southern Pacific railroad.

Setting the date for hearing of testimony Chairman Smith instructed both factions to be prepared to offer testimony, either oral or by affidavit, next week.

BLIZZARD PREDICTED BY U. S. FORECASTER

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(UP)—A blizzard, driven by strong winds, is sweeping down toward the north central states from Saskatchewan, U. S. Forecaster C. A. Donnell said today.

He predicted that the storm will reach the midwest tonight or tomorrow—the 50th anniversary of the west's most disastrous blizzard. Lives lost in that great storm, which broke suddenly Jan. 12, 1888, mounted into the thousands, with the greatest losses in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota. More than 1000 died in the Dakotas alone. During the height of the storm, the temperature dropped to 30 below zero.

Donnell said the impending blizzard is centered over Alberta and Saskatchewan. The disturbance has increased considerably in intensity, he said, and already has caused snow in the northern Rockies, upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys and in the western Canadian provinces. He forecast much lower temperatures throughout the midwest generally.

TREASURY WATCHDOG IS "TOO EFFICIENT"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. complained today to Congress that acting comptroller General Richard N. Elliott has taken too literally his job of "treasury watchdog" and has been "snapping at the heels" of administrative officers.

In a letter to Chairman John J. Cochran, D., Mo., of the house committee on expenditures in executive departments, Morgenthau defended his department against criticism in Elliott's annual report to Congress.

ALCATRAZ PRISONER TELLS OF INTENSE HATRED FOR CAPONE

ILLNESS MAY DELAY PAUL WRIGHT TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Illness of Chief Defense Counsel Jerry Geisler may delay the "White Rage" murder trial of Paul A. Wright, former president of the Union Air Terminal, for the slaying of his young wife, Evelyn, and his best friend, John Kimmel, it was disclosed today.

The trial is scheduled to start Thursday before Judge Ingaill Bull. Geisler told Judge Bull yesterday he was suffering from a chronic throat ailment that might force him to ask for a continuance.

Geisler said he would not know until Thursday whether he would be able to go to court.

PLANS REVEALED TO MOVE BEAN SURPLUS

Appointment of Vernon C. Hell of Smetzer, as director of "National Bean Week" starting next Monday for the Southern California district, announced today by the California Bean Growers committee, marks the initial action on the part of the growers to help move the 75,000,000 pound state surplus of beans.

The committee today said the surplus is threatening to glut the state's market and is using "National Bean Week" as a means of moving the crop. According to Hell, the national surplus is estimated at 300,000,000 pounds.

Former N. Y. Giant Held For Murder

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Jan. 11.—(UP)—Vernon Spencer, 40-year-old Wixom, Mich., farmer and former New York Giants outfielder, today was charged with the murder of pretty Helen Grier, 28, a Pontiac, Mich., stenographer, who died in a lonely cabin near here.

A coroner's verdict, announced after several days of testimony, was followed by formal charges against Spencer, who occupied the cabin with Miss Grier last Oct. 23 when she met her death.

The victim was found shot to death and medical experts testified her skull had been fractured by a blow.

DEATH TAKES ATWOOD GIRL IN ACCIDENT

Joseph W. Skidmore, 47, one of Orange county's most widely-known pioneers, of Laguna Beach, was almost instantly killed about 8:20 p. m. yesterday in Laguna canyon when his car struck a power pole, while a 19-year-old Atwood girl was fatally wounded one hour and a half before in Atwood when struck down by a truck.

The deaths brought the traffic toll for the county this year to five.

Josephine Savala, the Atwood girl, was walking along Van Buren street, two blocks south of Main street, witnesses said, accompanied by her sister, Matilda, both being en route to night school when the accident occurred. A truck operated by Clarence Housel, 54, Bixby ranch, Olive, struck both girls.

300,000 ADDED TO WPA ROLLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Acting Works Progress Administrator Aubrey Williams today advised President Roosevelt that between 250,000 and 300,000 persons had been added to W.P.A. rolls since Dec. 1, bringing the total on W.P.A. relief to 1,760,000.

Williams conferred with the President after the treasury and announced that $48,190,883 in relief funds still is unexpended and is available to aid jobless between now and July 1. The unobligated funds compare with $95,949,875 spent during the first half of the current fiscal year for relief.

100,000 Increase
Williams' estimate of 1,760,000 on W.P.A. rolls represented an increase of slightly less than 100,000 persons since Jan. 1.

Williams said that the 250,000 increase since Dec. 1 was a minimum figure and that it might be as high as 300,000 when the official returns are tabulated.

The acting administrator, who has been in charge of W.P.A. since Harry Hopkins went to the Mayo clinic last month, said that it is usually eight or nine weeks from the time an individual loses his job until he goes on the relief rolls.

He said that considerably more pressure would be exerted on W.P.A. by Feb. 1.

L. A. POLICE ARREST 'HOT CHECK' ARTIST

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Charles A. Pillsbury, 35, who was said to have boasted he cashed more than 100 bad checks, was arrested here today and booked on suspicion of forgery, robbery and criminal attack.

Pillsbury said he is wanted in Sacramento, San Diego, San Jose and Salinas assertedly for a long series of bad check operations in used car lots.

Detective W. C. Burris said Pillsbury's scheme was to go to a used-car lot, select a car, and give a worthless check as a down payment. Then, Burris said, Pillsbury would get the salesman to cash a smaller check, also worthless, drive away and abandon the automobile.

Painful Incident

Vice President Garner's rather pained grin can be blamed directly on his failure to repeat the coup of a year ago when he arranged with President Roosevelt to dispense with the customary exchange of formal dinners, chiefly because he has an intense dislike of climbing into white tie and tails. Muffled and top hatted, you see him above on the way to the White House to be the evening's honor guest.

Fay's False Teeth Cause Court Fight

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Barbara Stanwyck clicked into court on three-inch heels today in hope of proving beyond doubt that her ex-husband, Frank Fay, loves his beautiful new set of false teeth more than he does his adopted son, Dion.

If any doubt does remain in the mind of Judge G. J. Knight, Fay will be allowed to smile at five-year-old Dion—with those new molars—each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon, in accordance with their divorce agreement. Miss Stanwyck demanded that the court keep Fay and his teeth away from Dion, forever more.

His Turn Next
Loving mother, owner of 50 race horses, girl friend of Robert Taylor and a movie actress until yesterday, when her studio suspended her for insubordination, the beautiful Barbara charged Fay with too many things that probably he's still blushing. He'll get his day in court later.

RESCUE FAILS AS WOMAN SUCCUMBS

After Santa Ana fire department rescue squad worked unavailingly for 10 minutes over her this morning at about 9:20, Mrs. Sue Ann Rittner, 52 of South B street, Tustin, was declared the victim of a heart attack. Her illness had been brief.

Resident of Tustin for 32 years, Mrs. Rittner was the wife of Harvey A. Rittner, Tustin dairyman. She is survived by her husband; three sons, Elmer J., and Horace A. of Tustin, and Elwood of Victorville; six brothers, Frank T. Deaver, Santa Ana; Charles O. Deaver, Los Angeles; Victor, Virgil and Elmer Deaver of Escondido, and Barrett Deaver of Long Beach; four sisters, Mrs. Laura Heidelberger, Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. Ada Phelps, Long Beach; Mrs. Julian Wearne, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Letha Hawkins, San Francisco, and one grandchild, Samatha Ann Rittner, Tustin.

Sportsman Victor In Alimony Suit

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Claire Blavette Brandeis, estranged wife of E. John Brandeis, millionaire Omaha, Neb., sportsman, must get along on $500 a month alimony pending trial of her separate maintenance suit, Judge Leslie Still ruled today.

Mrs. Brandeis sought an increase to $5,250 a month.

START DRIVE TO INCREASE 'MAN POWER'

TOKYO, Jan. 11.—(UP)—The Japanese war office today called for a new conscription law to mobilize additional man power for the war in China, while Emperor Hirohito presided over an imperial conference on the conflict.

The ministry of war announced that the conscription bill to be submitted to parliament would swell the ranks of the armies by restoring the old 24 month term of service instead of the present term of 18 months. The former term was in effect until 1927 when the conscription law was revised.

Results "Secret"
The imperial conference was the fifth held in Japanese history. Its conclusions were guarded with utmost secrecy. Speculation covered a wide field including:
1. That severance of diplomatic relations with China had been considered.
2. That a formal declaration of war had been discussed, coincident with a drive to isolate the Canton life line to Hankow.

FOR-BUSINESS LEADERS MEET

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Leaders of five of the nation's largest industries were summoned to the White House today to meet with President Roosevelt at 5 p. m. for a thorough discussion of business conditions.

President Roosevelt sent telegraphic summonses, inviting to the White House, Alfred P. Sloan, board chairman of General Motors Corp.; Ernest P. Weir, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the board of the National Steel Corp.; M. W. Clement of Philadelphia, president of the Pennsylvania railroad; Lewis Brown, president of Johns-Manville Co., and Colby Chester, chairman of the board of the General Foods Corp., and head of the National Association of Manufacturers.

"Business Conference"
The White House conference of representative national industrial leaders is the first such gathering summoned by President Roosevelt since early days of the New Deal. While Stephen T. Early, White House secretary, described the session as "just another business conference," the prominence of the business men called to the White House lent special significance to the gathering.

It was believed, in the light of President Roosevelt's recent utterances, that sales problems would be discussed. He has emphasized desirability of spreading orders over the year in order to stabilize business instead of lumping them and thus creating rough periods at one time and dull periods the next.

BLAME WATER FIGHT FOR PROJECT DELAY

FRESNO, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Water rights litigation brought by the Fresno irrigation district was identified today by Federal Reclamation Commissioner John C. Page as an important factor contributing to delay in the construction of the Friant dam unit of the Central Valley project.

In a communication to the Fresno county chamber of commerce, Page appeared to substantiate charges of valley business interests that the irrigation district's condemnation suits could be included among several serious obstacles in the way of building Friant dam.

Page said he would "lack candor if I neglected to say that the suit . . . is a serious element in the delay of start of work on the Friant division, but it would be unfair to say it is the only obstacle."

CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS TO OPEN ON JANUARY 24

Preliminary plans were started yesterday for the week-long campaign for funds for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to be conducted in Orange county the week of Jan. 24.

The plans were outlined at a meeting of city chairmen with Fred Merker, county chairman, held in the office of Postmaster Frank Harwood. James Wooley, representing Joseph Schenck, Southern California chairman for the campaign, attended the conference and outlined the purpose of the campaign.

Drive Is New Idea
Wooley said that the fund raising campaign will replace the Annual President's Birthday Ball, for the past few years used to aid the fight against infantile paralysis. In the past funds derived through these annual dances were turned over to the Warm Springs Foundation and communities in which the dances were held.

On Nov. 8, last, President Roosevelt created the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and turned administration of the Foundation over to a committee of 32 men representing all races, creeds and political organizations.

Merker said that the city chairmen decided to hold one official county-wide dance the night of Jan. 27 at Valencia ballroom, on 101 Highway. Proceeds from the dance are to be turned over to the Foundation fund.

Special Show
It was also decided to conduct a campaign to sell "Help Fight Infantile Paralysis" buttons during the entire week. Committees will be named later to handle button sales.

Wooley told members of the Orange county committee that plans are also being completed for a special show to be presented in Santa Ana at the Fox-West Coast theater on the night of Jan. 28. Several motion picture stars will make personal appearances and proceeds from this event also will be turned over to the Foundation.

Following the conference in Santa Ana Wooley and Merker attended a similar meeting in Anaheim where a committee of 30 persons pledged their cooperation.

RARE HISTORICAL BOOKS MAY BE LOANED TO HUNTINGTON BY ORANGE COUNTY LAW LIBRARY

"Date loaned, 1938—date due, 1963," will be the inscription on the charge slip of the county law library for 19 historical books if the proposed 25 year loan of the collection to Huntington Library is approved by county supervisors.

The books, a collection of transactions of the San Francisco courts compiled by Henry E. Willis, of the law firm of Halleck, Peachy, and Billings, of San Francisco, in 1857, '58, '59, were found by Rush M. Blodgett, brother of Lew Blodgett, city attorney, in a second-hand store in Los Angeles more than 30 years ago.

Seen as Priceless
Blodgett paid 50 cents each for the books that, according to expert opinion, now are "almost priceless, and surely worth thousands of dollars in the open market."

Where the books were between the time Blodgett bought them in Los Angeles and the time they were compiled no one knows except that they were for a time in the possession of J. Merriam Brooks, of Los Angeles.

Historically, the books are valuable for the records and transcriptions they contain. Rare maps, one dated 1855, showing the original bay front of San Francisco, judicial opinions, even a complete diary that was introduced as evidence in court, add to value of the books to a student of California.

Times Gain Attention
The books were given to the Bar Association by Blodgett in 1915 and after several years the association voted to give them to the county law library. It was here that the collection came to the attention of officials of the Huntington Library who asked that the collection be loaned for 25 years so students might utilize the books in connection with the many other books in the institution.

At a recent meeting of the Bar Association it was voted to make the loan. Since the collection now is the property of the county, action by the Board of Supervisors is necessary before the loan can be made.

WARN AGAINST 'SPECIALIST'

Orange county residents were warned today against activities of an "eye specialist" who has operated in Santa Ana recently, according to city police.

The man was being sought for questioning today after Katherine Lundak, 1015 Highland, told Officers J. W. Foster and Daniel Jones she had purchased a pair of glasses from the man for $150 cash, 12 pounds of honey and $1 worth of oranges. Mrs. Lundak told Assistant Chief Harry Fink she did not believe the glasses are any better than the old ones although her eyes seemed to be helped for a time.

C. OF C. JOINS RURAL POLICE CORPS DRIVE

Directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce yesterday joined with the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County in urging increased police protection for the agricultural and beach areas of the county.

The Santa Ana group added its voice to the recommendation following a report by E. B. Sharpley, who represents the local group, in the Associated chambers.

24-Hour Protection
Under the recommendation approved yesterday the board of supervisors will be urged to allow the appointment of five additional deputy sheriffs. The sheriff will be requested to use the five new deputies and two others, not members of the regular farm detail to form a new detail equipped with three two-way radio equipped cars.

With this new detail the sheriff would be requested to give 24-hour protection in all rural areas. He will also be requested to change the name of the "Farm Detail" to the Sheriff's Radio Patrol.

Sheriff Logan Jackson recently requested the addition of 11 deputies to his staff and the board of supervisors allowed him two. These two deputies have not yet been appointed.

He assertedly admitted passing nine fictitious checks in Laguna Beach; one in each of Anaheim, Huntington Beach, Sunset Beach and Seal Beach, and three in Newport Beach township.

Roofing Company Tells of Service

Maintenance of a 24-hour emergency service is one of the factors in the success of the Kelly Roofing Company, Ltd., over a period of 19 years that the firm has been serving Santa Ana, according to officers of the organization.

Another factor in success of the company, they claim, is that all officers of the company are well-known in business and construction circles, having lived here for more than 19 years.

Harry Hanson is president of the company; Ira Dunkin, vice president and superintendent of service; William Creighton is secretary and manager and A. W. Dula is the remaining member of the firm.

CHECK THAT COLD IN THE DRY STAGE!

It's Much Easier Stopped in the First or Dry Stage Than in the Second or Third Stage!

A cold ordinarily goes through three stages.
(1) The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours.
(2) The Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days.
(3) The Mucous Secretion Stage. A cold is twice as easy to stop in the first stage as in the second or third.
In fact, to let a cold run beyond the first stage may be to invite trouble.

The Thing to Take!

The preparation you want to take for all colds—any cold—is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets).

Bromo Quinine tablets are expressly a cold treatment! They are not a "cure-all." They are made for colds and nothing else. Bromo Quinine tablets are internal treatment and a cold is an internal infection!

SUM TO CARRY NEEDS THROUGH NEXT MONTH

Santa Ana schools had a cash balance of $37,773.99 on hand to start the final half of the 1937-38 fiscal year, after paying off $53,943.60 in warrants issued during the fall months, before tax collections came in, the semi-annual report of Auditor Harold Yost to the board of education revealed last night.

Yost estimated that the balance, with expected receipts will carry school finances through February, including the payroll. But after that, unless the county supervisors advance funds to cover the spring "dry" period, it will be again necessary to register warrants until the second-installment taxes are collected and apportioned. The tax-paying period extends up to May 5.

Income Analyzed.

A summary of the semi-annual report showed $444,140.54 in receipts from July 1 to December 31, with expenditures of $406,366.55 for the same period. The expenditures included $286,806.66 in payroll and $119,559.89 in purchases of the latter item including $53,943.60 in warrants registered from September 10 to November 23.

Income items included $205,965.24 from the first tax apportionment of 1937-38, $1761.69 from the final apportionment of 1936-37, $22,015.82 delinquent taxes, $11,390.55 personal property taxes, and $173,383.28 as state aid. Federal vocational allowances amounted to $139.04, junior college tuition added $470.53, a fire loss payment of $142.55 was collected, and a $24.66 refund was received from the state board of public building reconstruction.

The schools collected $1297.98 from orange and walnut crops grown on school property. Miscellaneous receipts amounted to $5881.53.

Yost's report showed, incidentally, that an estimated unapportioned surplus of $9,664.04 of this year's school money must not be expended, but must be carried over to next year, because it was not included in the budget. A new state law, effective this year for the first time, he said, prevents use of any surplus in excess of the budget.

The present state of the budget, however, indicates that it is "in good shape," Yost told the board last night, and no fear was expressed that it might fail to meet requirements.

The unapportioned surplus to be carried over consists of $3333.14 in the junior college fund, $321.27 in the high school fund, and $59.53 in the elementary fund.

SOCIAL SCIENCE AS TAUGHT IN SCHOOLS TO BE OUTLINED

A discussion of social science and a demonstration of the teaching of social science in Santa Ana schools was approved by the board of education last evening as a part of the lecture program planned by Lathrop evening high school during January, February and March. The social science demonstration is scheduled February 7 in Spurgeon school auditorium, where all the lectures will be given.

Several of the Santa Ana social science instructors will take part in the teaching demonstration, the board was advised.

Starts on Jan. 31
The lecture series will start January 31 with the appearance of R. E. Gillette, of San Francisco, Red Cross representative, who will speak on affairs of that organization.
W. W. Mather, of Chaffey Junior college, experienced forum speaker, will lecture February 14 and 21, first on the subject, "Church and State in World Affairs," and next on "Dominant Trends in World Politics." He will receive $25 per lecture.
Served in China
A series of not more than four discussions of the Far Eastern situation will be started February 23 by Dr. Claude Buss, University of Southern California. Dr. Buss, also an experienced forum leader, was in the Orient last summer and has served in China as foreign correspondent for American newspapers. He will receive $25 for each lecture.
A group of lectures to be presented by Dean Calvin Flint, of Santa Ana Junior college, also was approved, dates being not yet arranged. Dean Flint has been lecturing in several nearby communities, it was stated.
The board last night granted a request for use of Santa Ana high school auditorium for the county teachers' institute February 17. The Cantando club will provide the program.

TWO MEN BLAMED
Two men were blamed as thieves who assertedly sacked and carted off $22.50 worth of avocados belonging to the A. J. Fruit company ranch, Irvine boulevard and Jeffrey road, Irvine, early yesterday. Officers Steve Duhart and Harvey Gulick and company men found several sacks beneath the trees, filled and ready for carting.

Gas Thieves Are Sought by Police

Sheriff's officers today were making a checkup in an effort to apprehend thieves who have made repeated forays upon the pump-house of M. Stroud, 617 North Artesia, Santa Ana, who has a ranch on Sugar avenue, near Wright, according to his report.

The raids have netted 150 gallons of gasoline, 16 gallons of oil and other materials, including cans, he said. A lock was broken to enter the place the first time.

Bright White House Outlook

If the New Year is as bright as the White House in its holiday dress, the United States has little to fear from 1938. As you see above, the Presidential mansion in Washington, D. C., is a dazzling spectacle at night, brightly lighted trees and spotlights augmenting the usual illumination.

S. A. Man Knew Air Crash Victim

When a Northwest Airlines transport plane crashed yesterday in the Bridger mountains near Bozeman, Mont., one of the victims of the tragedy was a personal friend of Lee Millis, auditor for The Register.

The victim was Al. H. Croonquist, Billings, Mont., state traffic manager for the Montana and Northwest Airlines and was a personal friend of Millis' when the latter made his home in Billings, Mont. At that time Croonquist operated a "dude" ranch.

BOARD BUYS SEATS FOR AUDITORIUM

Accepting the $2347.72 bid of the American Seat company, the Santa Ana board of education last night approved purchase of 259 additional seats for the high school auditorium. The bid was the only one received.

The board passed a resolution thanking the electrical contractors of southern Orange county for donating their work to decorate the Christmas tree on the junior college campus.

A letter of thanks was received by the board from the junior college football team and coaches, expressing appreciation for cooperation and support given the team during the late triumphant season.

No action was taken on the suggestion of J. Russell Bruff, of junior college faculty, that the board might be interested in opposing the proposed extension of South Broadway, and its development into a through traffic route. That, said Bruff, would mean bringing fast traffic past the rear of two schools, Lathrop and Spurgeon. Bruff was opposed to the extension himself, as an interested property owner, he said.

The term cowboy first was used during the American Revolution and was applied to a band of Tories who stole cattle from both sides. English is the official language in all Philippine courts.

SALE OF SCHOOL LAND TO AID NEW JAYSEE FUND DISCUSSED

Whether vacant and unused Santa Ana school property should be liquidated for the benefit of the fund for a new Santa Ana junior college plant was a question discussed by the board of education last night, with expression of varying views.

Chairman George Wells brought the subject before the board, to ascertain sentiment regarding it. Dr. Margaret Baker favored selling the unused school property for the benefit of the new junior college program. M. B. Youel, however, pointed out that the market is now unfavorable for such a step.

Seeks Donation
Ridley Smith expressed the wish that somebody with a lot of land just outside the city would donate an adequate site for the junior college, such tract to be annexed. He favored building the plant away from the business district, he said.

Typing Classes Open 3 Nights

Three nights have been set aside for the Adult Education department to give beginners' lessons in touch typing for Santa Anans who want instruction in the fundamental technique of typing but cannot take the time to enroll for a complete course. The beginning lessons, according to Mrs. Helen Walden, instructor, will be given tomorrow night and the nights of Jan. 19 and 26. Classes will meet at Lathrop evening high school.

Mrs. Walden said that this instruction is designed to acquaint the student with the fundamental techniques of touch typing, location of letters of the alphabet, and the correct manipulation of the machine.

Although this plan is offered for those who have never operated a typewriter, it will be particularly valuable for those who wish a rapid review of the keyboard and improvement of typing skill.

WE, THE PEOPLE

By JAY FRANKLIN

BIG BUSINESS AND THE NEW DEAL

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Before the dead cats of the crusade against monopoly fly as thick as General Johnson, I should like to set down my understanding of the Roosevelt-New Deal attitude towards big business.

At first, Mr. Roosevelt believed that large-scale industry would co-operate with the government for recovery, without raising the issue of power or final policy. This was the "First New Deal," which ended when the supreme court schechtered the badly chiseled NRA. Then Mr. Roosevelt believed that, with time and the discovery that it could still earn generous profits, big business would kill off some of its old leadership and abandon some of its own practices—IN ITS OWN INTEREST.

This was the "Second New Deal," which ended with the gorgeous profits and the cockeyed campaign of 1936. Finally, Mr. Roosevelt believed that big business would follow the election returns and, despite grumbling, would take up the slack as the government cut down on relief spending and concentrated on the long-range reforms the supreme court, federal reorganization, regional planning, the ever-normal granary and wages-and-hours legislation.

This was the "Third New Deal." During the last 12 months, two things have happened to wreck Mr. Roosevelt's belief that big business, always in its own interest, would go along with the government in promoting the general welfare. After the 1936 election, many businesses began raising their prices arbitrarily, out of proportion to increased costs. This was not a plot. America's "sixty families" did not put their heads together and say, "Come, we will soak up all this New Deal purchasing power. Ha! Ha!" They simply wanted to make more money more quickly and had scant patience with the economists who warned them that they had adopted price-policies of disaster.

As these price-raises dried up our national purchasing-power, orders began to slack off. Again, simultaneously, large-scale business enterprises gave a similar reaction to a common situation. They reduced their purchases, slowed down production, laid off their labor and tried to work off their inventories on the groggy consumers. Here again was no great plot of the "economic royalists. No bald-headed gang of Tories got together and said: "Now let us wreck prosperity so as to destroy this man Roosevelt! Ha! Ha!" They simply made the prudent individual decisions which spelled collective folly. They were simply trying to avoid losing money.

Now the New Deal's attempt to deal with this condition rests on a very practical basis. So much of American economic life is controlled by a few large-scale corporations—200 at most—that the routine business decisions of the private managers of these corporations intrude on public policy and affect our public life. To illustrate: an uneconomic price-raise on any article of general consumption operates like a sales-tax, without benefit of public discussion and debate; the discharge of hundreds of thousands of industrial workers lays heavy relief burdens on community, state and nation, with the accompanying problem of taxing the rich to care for the destitute; the curtailment of industrial pay-rolls and purchases depresses the price of our basic raw materials—human labor and farm produce—thereby stimulating a major social crisis. Private business decisions of such far-reaching effects cannot be ignored by any political government and are no longer "private" by definition, any more than the duel or polygamy is private.

In order to deal with the crisis which has resulted from this series of decisions, Mr. Roosevelt has naturally turned for support to the two groups most seriously injured in the process: The farmers and the industrial workers. The convenient scarecrow of "Monopoly" provides a rallying-point for the Southern and Western farmers and the northern industrial workers. His immediate purpose is to regain control of congress by reconstituting the original New Deal coalition of 1932 and 1936, in order to take appropriate legislative measures to deal with the crisis. The purpose of these measures is not, as the bugaboo artists pretend, to put government bureaucrats and "impractical theorists" in charge of our business institutions. The objective is to introduce a controlling element of accountability, of public responsibility, at those points in the structure of Big Business where "private" corporate practices directly affect the public life of this nation.

JAYSEE 'BIG 10' IMPRACTICAL

Bill Cook laughs off a suggestion from Modesto that there be organized for athletic purposes a "Little Big Ten" of California junior colleges.

The Santa Ana Don coach says the idea sounds "big" but questions whether it would work out in practice.

Modesto, through Director of Athletics Jack Gardner, proposes that Santa Ana, Pasadena, Compton, Bakersfield, Sacramento, San Francisco, Taft, San Mateo and Los Angeles join Modesto in the venture.

The league, if organized, would cause a readjustment of the Southern and Northern California conferences.

Coach Cook sees no reason for Santa Ana to make a switch.

"Our relations in the Eastern division of the Southern California conference have been cordial, and competition has been keen," explains Cook. "From a box office standpoint we should be wiser to remain where we are, too. Our natural rivalries are in Southern California. No, I doubt if a State conference would work out."

This is one of those I-heard-it-from-him who-heard-it-from-him tales, so it is repeated here only for what it is worth.

Bob Foote, Pasadena Star-News sports writer, comments as follows in his column, "Foote-Loose": "Tex Oliver, once football coach of Santa Ana high school and who turned in a great record with his

OREGON CHOOSES SOON

EUGENE, Ore., (UP)—Arne Cornell, graduate manager of University of Oregon, returned to the campus today from his travels in pursuit of a football coach to succeed "Prink" Callison who resigned several weeks ago. It was believed announcement of Oregon's choice will be made soon.

Unless specifically urged by the athletic board, Cornell will not recommend any particular candidate, but will present facts and personal impressions of 10 coaches he interviewed.

Gene Shields, present line coach at Oregon, is a candidate for advancement.

University of Arizona team this year, is to succeed Prink Callison as head coach at the University of Oregon.

"Though not announced, that is the slate. We have it on absolutely unimpeachable authority."

"A bus passenger coming down from the North heard the sports editor of a Portland paper confide the news to a big banker from the same town. What more direct evidence can you ask? You can look for the announcement any day now, despite the fact that they are still talking in the papers about Gene Shields, Callison's line coach; Doug Fessenden of Montana and Ted Bank of Idaho, for the job."

Incidentally, non-committal Coach Oliver is coming up to Southern California next week. He sends word that he'll "make every effort" to sit in on the big Elks' football party here a week from tonight."

The Oregon appointment should "break" soon; if Oliver gets it between now and Tuesday, the Elks blowout will be a natural.

Bill Musick has sent in his credentials for admission (in February) to the University of Southern California, where Brother Jim made a lasting reputation at a time the Pinkertons, Mohlers, Smiths, Shavers and Browns were making Troy the best there was in U. S. football.

Fullback Bill starts at S. C. nearly 15 pounds heavier than Jim. When Jarring Jim was a Saint senior he scaled only 165 pounds, although he added weight rapidly during the spring semester and entered college at 180.

From this distant angle, admittedly obscure, it looks like Jordan high school of North Long Beach is fixin' to get itself in a peck of trouble with the new Sunset league.

In operation less than a semester, the Sunset circuit (embracing Orange, Anaheim, Newport Harbor and Huntington Beach in Orange county) already has stood for two disturbances in which Jordan was a participating party, if not the chief offender.

One was after a football game between Excelsior and Jordan, the other followed last week's basketball game between Jordan and Huntington Beach. About one more riot and the C.I.F. will hear of it.

Dons May Get 440 Champ

THOMSON NETS $2100 IN L. A. TOURNAMENT

BY HENRY MCLEMORE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LOS ANGELES—A check for $2100 tucked carefully in his hip pocket, husky Jimmy Thomson looked around and about today for other and tougher golfing fields to conquer with his magic new putter.

The putter isn't exactly new; it's a battered, bulbous number Thomson picked up in a second-hand store. But the 65-66-74-68-273 the Pennsylvania tapped out in winning the $7500 Los Angeles Open is proof that it is magic.

Heralded as the world's longest driver, Thomson for years has followed golf trails, but never until yesterday did he win an important American tourney. He was second in the 1935 National Open, the 1936 P.G.A. championships, and the 1937 Miami-Biltmore Open. The big fellow hooked his wood shots between 250 and 300 yards, but his green game wouldn't stand up.

Putter Works
Thomson started out with the putter Friday and blazed the first 18 holes in 65. Next day he added 66 and set a new P.G.A. mark of 131 strokes for 36 holes of tournament play. Sunday the putter temporarily deserted him. He three-putted two holes and slipped to 74, losing half his six-stroke lead.

Yesterday, nerves tight from the strain of protecting his edge, and jostled by a gallery of 1500, he hooked his first drive for a six. Then, while Johnny Revolta and Lawson Little and a half dozen others backed at his lead, the young veteran from Shawnee-on-Delaware marched over Wilson course in Griffith park for a last-round 68, and a new Los Angeles Open record of 273.

Revolta, four strokes behind, came closest to catching Thomson. The bushy-haired professional from Evanston, Ill. finished with 70-67-71-69, and won $1260. Henry Picard, booming home with a 50 foot putt on the final green, scored a last round 69 for 278 and a tie for third with Little.

Little started his last 18 holes with a spectacular rally. At the 14th green he was five under par, but on three greens thereafter he three-putted and ended with a 69. He and Picard each won $840.

Other winners
Horton Smith, Chicago; Lloyd Mangrum, Dayton, O.; Willie George, San Bruno, Cal., and George Von Elm, Los Angeles, each $350 with scores of 279; Olin Dutra 1236 with 280; Harold McSpaden, Winchester, Mass.; Emil Maschie, Fitchburg, Mass.; and Ben Coltrin, San Francisco, $95.66 with 283; Harry Cooper, Chicago; Leonard Dodson, Springfield, Mo.; Mac Smith, Glendale, Harry Bassler, Long Beach, Bill Williamson, Los Angeles, Al Zimmerman, Portland, and Jimmy Hines, Long Island, $40 with 284.

Danny Williams, Los Angeles; Leonard Ott, Denver; Fred Wood, Vancouver; Charles Congden, Milwaukee; Mottie Hunter, Los Angeles; Mottie Dutra, Detroit; Zell Eaton, Oklahoma City; Art Bell, Los Angeles; and Leo Diegel, Philadelphia, Pa., each won $33.33, and eight others picked up $4.67.

Bruce McCormick, Los Angeles fireman who is National Public Links titlist, won amateur honors for the second consecutive year with 281.

SCHAEFER LEADS IN BILLIARD PLAYOFF

NEW YORK.—(UP)—Jake Schaefer of Chicago, challenger for the world's 182 ballline billiard championship, held a 600-385 lead over Defending Champion Welker Cochran of San Francisco today, entering the third block of their 4200-point title match. Schaefer won both of yesterday's opening blocks, 300-100 and 300-235.

From this distant angle, admittedly obscure, it looks like Jordan high school of North Long Beach is fixin' to get itself in a peck of trouble with the new Sunset league.

In operation less than a semester, the Sunset circuit (embracing Orange, Anaheim, Newport Harbor and Huntington Beach in Orange county) already has stood for two disturbances in which Jordan was a participating party, if not the chief offender.

Par Golf No Longer Good Enough To Win

BY HENRY MCLEMORE

LOS ANGELES.—The time has come when four rounds of par golf will earn a professional player no more than $40.

We know this, because yesterday at the close of the 72-hole Los Angeles Open those players who finished with a score of 284 were handed checks for exactly that amount.

This is hard to believe, I know, because it was not quite a decade ago that Robert Tyre Jones, the Atlanta Atlas, established himself as the super-golfer by always shooting par. As I remember it, Jones was heralded far and wide as the man who didn't play his opponent, but who played par.

Well, if Jones still were playing golf, and still playing par, and depended on the money he won for a living, his address would either be the poor house or a house so close to the poor house that he could borrow sugar and salt without stepping off his porch.

Par's a joke these days. Jimmy Thomson won the Los Angeles Open with an aggregate of 273—a score that was exactly 15 strokes better than even fours. Not so many years ago such a score would have been flashed around the world as a sports feat, and Thomson a man running the 100 in 7 seconds flat, pole vaulting 20 feet.

But Jimmy's 273 didn't create any great to-do. It didn't establish any records. It was only a year ago, in the Open tournament at Sacramento, that Ed Dudley, the sweet-swinging pro from Philadelphia, turned in a 273, and Ed's 273 was a much more remarkable 273 than Thomson's. The latter scored his under perfect weather conditions, and over a course that was a blood brother to easy. Dudley fired his course over a course that measured nearly 7000 yards, and in the face of weather conditions that would have turned back Byrd from the pole. He battled ice, snow, frost and wintry gales. Thomson was favored by a warm sun, a gentle breeze and cloudless skies.

I don't mean to disparage Thomson. Not one bit. In fact, I believe Jimmy—with the full-back build and the Lord Fauntleroy mop of curls—will lead all golfers in 1938. The winning of this tournament was the impetus he needed to transform him from a perennial runner-up to a champion. He had muffed this tournament, after starting the final 18 holes with a three stroke lead—and he came close to doing it with that six on the first hole. He might never have won a big show. A man's morale will stand just so much, and Jimmy's had been shaken by his runner-up performances in the National Open, the National P.G.A., the $10,000 Miami-Baltimore and many others.

When he fired that dreadful six to start his final round no one liked his chances. And they seemed even more remote when he had to struggle madly to get his par, on the second. But then all of a sudden Thomson settled down, and began booming his drives down the fairway, and sticking his seconds dead, as a sports feat, and Thomson a man running the 100 in 7 seconds flat, pole vaulting 20 feet.

I was talking to him after his victory and happened to ask him how he learned to hit a ball so far.

"Well," he said, "I used to be a caddy and every day all of us caddies would go behind the clubhouse and have a driving contest. It was agreed that the shortest hitter would have to go and gather up the balls. I was lazy and didn't like to have to go out and get the other boys' shots. So I started hitting the ball just as hard as I could."

The day before the Kentucky Derby of last May, one of the brothers went to the bank to get $25,000 changed into nickels, dimes and quarters. The money came unwrapped and four cashiers spent the entire night counting and wrapping the change.

There are approximately 1500 employees on the Jacobs staff, but holidays such as July Fourth and Decoration day, bring the total well above 10,000.

FOOTBALL FAN TOUGHEST
The brothers have made a study of fans' habits.

They know, for instance, that there is a demand for pop-corn in the midwest, but not in the east. It's hard to peddle hot dogs in the south, but cushions go big below the Mason-Dixon line, where people wear light clothes during the summer.

Dallas customers consume 10 times as much pop as those in St. Paul. Football filberts are toughest to sell because of their rapt attention to the game.

The best break the Jacobses get at a football game is when it starts to rain in the third quarter. If it rains before the half is concluded, people are liable to duck under the stands during the intermission and stay there.

In one game at Pitt stadium last fall the Jacobs organization sold 25,000 rain protectors in 15 minutes.

Bearing out once again the old saw which has to do with an ill wind.

Luckiest Man Picks 3 Horses In Daily Double

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(UP)—Dr. H. W. Swan boasted today that he probably was the luckiest man who ever bet on a horse race. He picked three horses in two daily-double combinations at the New Orleans Fair Grounds track, and because of a dead heat in the third race, yesterday, all three of his horses won.

The doctor's payoff was $48.60 on one $2 combination, and $134.20 on the other.

WILBUR MILLER OF JEFFERSON HI DUE HERE

BY HENRY MCLEMORE

Track and field hopes soared at Santa Ana Junior college today as word was received that Wilbur Miller, flashy Negro quarter-miler and State C.I.F. champion from Jefferson high school in Los Angeles, may enroll here in February.

With times consistently better than 50 flat for the one-lap race and a best mark of 48.9 seconds, Miller would be a welcome addition to the growing list of track luminaries enrolled here.

Bill Huntale, Southern California prep 100 yard champion from Oceanside; Las McLennan, fresh sprinter and quarter-miler; Capt. Blas Mercurio, ace high-jumper and Gilbert Baker, freshman flash from Jefferson, have all been reporting for informal practice.

Besides Mercurio, eight lettermen return. They are Erwin Youel, conference vaulting champion; Walter Opp, Joe Kobayashi, Dick Tauber, Tommy Sullivan, Harry Griffith, Les Huhn and Elson Gaeb. Graduating lettermen were Bill Gieschner, Ray Cokely, Inez Grandos, Willard Linton, Dave Clark, Bob Clark, George Griffith, Cameron Gillis, Hal Eastham, Bob Reif, Harry Stanley and Franklin Guthrie.

Coach Bill Cook will not make the official call for training until the start of the second semester, but said any athletes who wanted to check out equipment can do so by getting a written permit from him.

DONS PLAN 3 SPRING GAMES

In order to coincide with the spring football practice of Southern Conference schools, Coach Bill Cook of Santa Ana Jaysee will issue a call for gridiron candidates immediately after the rugby schedule is completed around the first of March, he announced today.

Pasadena, Jaysee, Pomona college and Caltech are on Cook's preferred list for spring games. In all probability the contests will be played in the Municipal Bowl at night.

High school seniors will be invited to work out with the Dons as in previous years.

JAYSEE RUGGERS TO FACE U. C. L. A. FRI.

A squad of 20 Jaysee ruggers, including six experienced hands, turned out for a second practice session at the Municipal Bowl today under the guidance of Coach Ernes (Sir Reginald) Butterworth.

Butterworth said the squad will have only two regular workouts a week (Mondays and Wednesdays) with informal practice scheduled Tuesday and Thursdays.

The Dons have an informal scrimmage scheduled with U. C. L. A. at Westwood Friday and a game with Santa Barbara State at Santa Barbara Jan. 21.

Candidates reporting yesterday were Fred Kobayashi, Alex Bancroft, Gil Nehrig, Grant Kellar, Downey Thomas, Harold Tucker, Glenn Cave, John Joseph, Pete Kotler, Ray Hutzinger, Dick Tauber, Jerry Nesmith, Ed Stanley, Bill Wilson, John McBride, "Rusty" Roquet, Joe Anton, Bob Pan-nell, Bill Twist and Charles Stanford.

Larry Timken, Bill Sem-nacher, Walter Opp and Virgil Stevens are expected later in the week.

JOEL HUNT NAMED COACH AT GEORGIA

ATHENS, Ga.—The University of Georgia today welcomed a new set of football coaches, headed by Joel Hunt, formerly backfield coach at Louisiana State university.

The university's governing board of athletics announced the selection of Hunt to succeed Harry Mehre, resigned, Elmer Lampe, football coach and athletic director at Carroll college, Waukesha, Wis., was named end coach and basketball coach.

GALLAGHER NAMED BASEBALL OFFICIAL

LOS ANGELES.—(UP)—Mat Gallagher, veteran Los Angeles sports writer and baseball expert, today held the post of assistant to the president of the Los Angeles baseball club in charge of its public relations. President David P. Fleming announced the appointment.

Luckiest Man Picks 3 Horses In Daily Double

Just Beats The Deadline

Several farms claim the first thoroughbred foal of the year. The one above arrived at the Charles E. Cooper Rancho San Luis Rey in Southern California shortly after midnight, Jan. 1. Had the colt been born a few hours earlier it already would be considered a year old since January 1 is the recognized birthday of all race horses. The dam, Vera C. is blind, so a tiny blind was placed on the colt's neck. This enables the mare to know the whereabouts of her baby. The young woman is Vera Jeffrey.

Scabbard, one of the foreign threats for the Santa Anita Handicap, is scheduled to make his debut tomorrow in an overnight handicap at one mile and one-sixteenth. Although his brief racing career has had its setting in England, Scabbard is really an American horse, being foaled in Kentucky, but Wednesday will be his first trip postward on his native soil.

This fine looking 4-year-old son of Sickle and La Bayonnette has been training impressively and undoubtedly will make a good showing first out.

He was a stakes winner in England at two, and dead-heated a mile and one quarter stake at three last year. Racing Secretary Webb Everett was impressed enough with his English record to put 116 pounds on him for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap—only three less than Heelfy, which ran Scabbard to a dead heat last year.

Scabbard is owned by the Millsdale stable and trained by Anthony Pelletier.

Tomorrow he will be called upon to face Star Shadow, Sweepalot, Tick On, Advocate, Marynell, Gray Jack, Grey Count, Mars Shield, Warfellow and Little Nymph.

While it is difficult to make comparisons about invaders, racing here for the first time, it is significant to note that Scabbard's connections believe that he has much more than a passing chance in the big race.

HERE AND THERE: The books at the Caliente merry-go-round were reported to have ended on the right side of the ledger Sunday. Miss Color fixed them up the week before when she suddenly took wings. . . . Fair Knightess is far from out for the season, as reported elsewhere, and, incidentally, Chanceview was not out down at Tanforan in his last start, as also reported. . . . He'll flash into action one of these days when the track is muddy.

North Beach Has Two New Idols To Worship

By ROGER JOHNSON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO—North Beach, the San Francisco residential section that affords a good view of both the Golden Gate bridge and Alcatraz Island prison, proudly claimed Fred Apostoli and Hank Luisetti today—newest arrivals to its growing list of athletic greats.

Acclaim for its Local-Boy-Makes-Good athletes is not a new experience for the extensive colony of Italian families that live close to the edge of San Francisco bay.

Already North Beach has honored Joe DiMaggio, Frank Crosetti, and Tony Lazzeri, heavy-duty men of the New York Yankees "murderers' row."

Today, the beach has in Apostoli the uncrowned king of the middle weights, and in Luisetti of Stanford university one of the most spectacular basketball scorers the college game has known for many years.

When Apostoli technically knocked out Freddie Steele, the middle-weight champion, in a non-title bout in New York, North Beach was happy but not surprised. There were many "I told you so's," because the beach's grandstand experts had been predicting Freddie would go to the top in the boxing world. Since Apostoli quit his job as a hotel bell-boy and began flattening local talent, the North Beachers figured they had another champion.

Last Friday night the same fishermen, storekeepers and business-men who call Joe DiMaggio their friend gathered around radio microphones on the street corners and listened as Apostoli defeated Steele.

Luisetti, a gangling, likeable Italian boy, has carried Stanford's bas-

BUDGE ADMITS 'INTEREST' IN PRO CONTRACT

NEW YORK—(UP)—James J. Johnston, New York sports promoter, said today that he has offered a professional contract to Donald Budge of Oakland, No. 1 in world tennis rankings and that Budge was "interested."

Johnston said he called his offer to Budge who is now in Australia and today received the following reply: "Offer sounds good like hear more on my return United States March 1 Regards."

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LOS ANGELES.—The button business of who is world professional tennis champion begins again tonight when Fred Perry of England and Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena meet in the first match of their second annual barnstorming tour.

Last year the two played 74 matches and each won 37. Tonight there is at stake more than just a title, and the present series can't be deadlocked. There are 75 matches this time, and the prize is first try at Donald Budge, when and if the Oakland redhead renounces his world amateur title.

A sell-out record crowd of 10,000 liberally sprinkled with moving picture celebrities, will pack Pan-Pacific auditorium to see the first match. Eight thousand tickets already have been sold.

A new philosophy of barnstorming announced by Perry a month ago will be followed during the present series, which swings north to San Francisco and Vancouver after tonight's match. Perry believes the hope of the professional game lies in the small town, where residents never have had an opportunity to witness a first class tennis encounter.

Generally, large centers will be avoided. After the northern swing, the players will leisurely return south, with the next key match at Pasadena late in February. A junket through Texas and the South follows, and the series will end in Chicago after an invasion.

Final workouts were taken at the smaller points in the East, the Beverly Hills Tennis club yesterday. Each secretly is hoping for the starting call against Budge, who is expected to turn professional after the United States defense of the Davis Cup this year.

The singles will be bolstered by a doubles match. Perry will team with Berkeley Bell of Texas and Vines will play with Walter Senior of San Francisco. This combination will be retained throughout the tour.

Tonight's Games
Santa Ana at Redlands; Riverside at Chaffey; Pomona at Riverside.

Santa Ana's Saints hit the inland trail tonight, invading Redlands for their second Citrus Belt league basketball game.

Although woefully weak last fall in football, the Terriers figure to give Santa Ana spirited competition on the hardwood and probably rate as favorites off Friday's first-round engagements. The Saints lost to Chaffey 33-20, but Redlands had enough on the ball to nose out San Bernardino.

Coach Joe Koegler probably will stand pat on the Saint lineup (O'Campo and Partida, forwards; Barron, center; Brown and Young, guards) that gave Chaffey a tough game for three quarters.

DONS PLAY LA VERNE COLLEGE FIVE

With hopes higher than they have been since the beginning of practice, Santa Ana's junior college basketball team invades the fair of the La Verne college Leopards tonight, for a double header. The preliminary game will start at 7 and the varsity tussle at 8.

The Don lineup will be intact with Charles (Chuck) Hall and Ted DeVelibus, forwards; Cy Lievermann, center, and Lynn Arnett and Verne Rutledge, guards. Replacements will be Captain Don Randall, Kenny Marshall and Del Holman.

In the reserve game, Coach Blanchard Beatty will probably start Randall, Gaeb, Fowler, Duffel, and Steele.

Seeking revenge for a 46-30 beating administered by the Leopards a month ago, Beatty's cagers will be out to prove they belong in the same company with Fullerton Jaysee which easily defeated LaVerne a week ago. The Dons and the Hornets clash at Fullerton Friday night in the first game of the Eastern conference schedule.

Floyd Stahl, Ohio State baseball coach, always starts his spring training plans with a cider and doughnut party for the squad at his home.

Unusually good weather was credited for the more-than-$600,000 daily average.

YOST'S PRIDE BARS DORAIS AT MICHIGAN

CRISLER AND MORRISON ON SELECT LIST

BY HARRY GRAYSON
ANN ARBOR.—Fledding H. Yost's pride and blind faith in the Michigan system appears to be all that stands between Charles E. Dorais and the head coaching position at Ann Arbor.

Daily, someone pops up with a new name, "virtually assured" of the job, but trusted tipsters assert that the field has narrowed to four. They are:

Herbert Orin Crisler, of Princeton.

Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt.

George F. Veenker, formerly here as basketball coach and assistant football mentor and currently the athletic director of Iowa State.

Gus Dorais of Detroit.

Garrison H. Davidson, Army's retired coach, definitely has been passed up by Yost due to encephalitis, it is reported. Gar Davidson has taught football for 11 years, however, and it is suspected that his fault is that of most of the others.

No part of him can be traced to the Michigan system.

On the other hand, Fritz Crisler comes closest to meeting the specifications demanded at Ann Arbor and the Tiger teacher never has been associated with the punt, pass, and prayer gridiron scheme. Crisler has the endorsement of President Alexander Ruthven.

YOST TO RETIRE
It is doubtful whether Crisler will leave Princeton, but the board in control is dangling a $10,000 contract and the athletic directorship in front of the candidates. The latter position will be open when Yost attains the age limit of 70 three years hence, and it spells security and no headaches.

A problem in connection with Crisler going to Michigan is that he hardly would switch without taking his line coach, Elton E. (Tad) Wieman, with him. Wieman resigned as head coach of the Wolverines in 1928, after a feud with Yost.

Morrison, too, may elect to remain at Vanderbilt, his alma mater. Here is an experienced instructor whom Yost could appoint to the post, for Morrison learned his football under the late Dan McGugin, a Michigan product and Yost's brother-in-law.

Although Veenker did not perform at Michigan, his previous employment there makes him satisfactory to Yost.

While Yost and Prof. Ralph Alger, chairman of the Board in Control of Athletics, interviewed Dorais, the man who revolutionized football and put Norte Dame on the immortal Knute Rockne, he feels that it was just a gesture.

DORAIS WOULD ACCEPT
Dorais, extremely popular in Detroit, and well liked by the Regents, says he would accept the post provided he was given a free hand and a long enough contract.

"But they don't want me," he explains. "I'm wrong with them on two counts. I not only come from the wrong place, but I'm in the wrong place now. I fear that I belong to an entirely different breed of cats."

Michigan athletic authorities regard Detroit as their territory, and have attempted to keep the University of Detroit under his thumb. Under Dorais, the institution on Six Mile Road has made considerable progress in wiggling out from beneath that thumb.

The Regents merely are supposed to rubber-stamp the athletic board recommendations, but in view of the latter's criticism from alumni in the Lafare Harry Kipke, the Regents may assert themselves.

It's about time someone other than Yost asserted himself in Michigan football.

Propose Action To Stop Racing Of Young Horses
CORAL GABLES, Fla.—(UP)—The National Association of State Racing Commissioners, meeting for their semi-annual convention, today began consideration of proposals to stop racing of young horses, to increase imports and apprentice allowances, and to determine a system for registration and identification of horses.

If You Can Walk You Can Bowl

Joe Falcato shows beginners how to hold the ball.

(This is the first of 10 instructional articles on bowling.)

BY JOE FALCARO (Match Game Champion)

So you want to learn to bowl? Well, the first thing to do is to walk into a bowling alley, and ask someone to roll you.

You say you don't know how to bowl.

My answer to that is: "If you can walk, you can bowl." Bowling, although high scores of the stars may make it appear difficult to novices, is one of the easiest games to master, provided you go about it in the correct way and follow a systematic method of learning the game.

First, the freshman bowler must obtain the proper ball, that is, one that fits his hand.

Then he must learn to hold it in the correct manner.

At a glance I can tell within a thousandth of an inch what size ball a bowler needs.

Assuming he wants to use a two-fingered ball, as practically every good bowler does, the thumb should go all the way down in the thumbhole. Then, without inserting the third finger, span the ball.

If you have the proper ball, the second joint of the third finger will be directly over the inner edge of its hole. If you use a three-fingered ball, second joints of both fingers will rest in the same manner.

A ball that is too wide will cause the bowler to press his grip and result in a back-up ball. One that is too loose will slip out of the hand and cause lack of control.

Hold the ball without any trace of tension. In your left hand until you are ready to approach the foul line. In this way you do not put undue strain on your bowling arm.

TRIBE'S VITT HAS TOUGHEST JOB AS PILOT

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK.—Four major league baseball clubs will have new managers next season but only one of them, Oscar Vitt at Cleveland, will be making his big-time managerial debut.

Bill McKee, who has won pennants with the Cardinals and Pirates, moves from the Boston Bees to Cincinnati Reds. Casey Stengel, who was paid his regular salary not to manage the Brooklyn Dodgers last season, succeeds McKee at the helm of the Bees. Gabby Street, "Old Sarge," who has a world championship to his credit with the 1931 Cardinals, takes over the St. Louis Browns.

Perhaps the toughest job in baseball goes to Vitt, who moves up to the majors after a phenomenal year with the Newark Bears, a Yankee farm. His club won the international pennant by 2½ games, then swept through the playoffs by taking four straight each from Syracuse and Baltimore. In the "Little World Series," Columbus, the American association champions, won the first three games from Newark and Vitt's club came roaring back to win four straight at Columbus.

One of Vitt's outstanding gifts is his ability to handle pitchers. At Newark he developed the finest staff in the minors from inexperienced men. With Allen, Heller, Harder and Galehouse, Vitt built a staff that was possibly assembled by one of the majors' best pitching staffs.

Vitt says his only iron-clad rule will be: "My players must hustle all the time or they go. There will be no exceptions."

While on the subject of managers and Columbia, we might just as well blurt out a question that's been bothering us. Why hasn't Bud Gluskin been able to land a commercial of late?

While Gluskin, a former drummer, sits behind a door lettered "CBS West Coast Music Director," his assistant, Bill (Wilbur J.) Hatch lands all the assignments.

Now that Walter O'Keefe has given Hollywood Mardi Gras a much needed tone, some features must be dropped to make way for this capable comic's carryings.

Ruby Mercer sings her swan song on the show. Mark this: She'll sing it expertly. Although Cliff Arquette will be used from time to time in bit parts, his Grandpa Sneed character will be shelved.

Which points to a decided paring down on Butterworth's contribution, as Grandpa Sneed was part and parcel of his routine.

Raymond Paige strikes a lighter musical note to fashion his portion of the show to the program's new mood. How many popular songs have been based on the opening strains of old street-corner classic, "How Dry I Am?" Maestro Paige will illustrate. (KFI, 6:30) from Film: Wiscareo (?) are still trying to sell us on the "exclusive" news that Charles (Captain Henry) Winninger is going to be shoved into the M-G-M hour as headman any day now. Which, I'll admit, might not be a bad idea. But if they tell you the same story.

Homer Canfield don't believe a word of it. Robert Taylor is in the emcee seat. And there to stay. At least, until camera assignments get a bit too heavy. Bob's got a swell voice over the air, which will go a long way to recapture slipping prestige.

Although it won't make a bit of difference to dialers, it will be more authentic. . . Your Hollywood Parade may come from Hollywood after all. It's more than likely that the 19th will find the Warner Brothers show housed on the old Sunset boulevard lot instead of Burbank.

And by the way, the same evening will find Al Goodman replacing Leo Forbstein as orchestra leader, a statement of fact which was exclusively told in this column January 11.

Thrills (Wednesdays) will soon undergo some changes in pattern. We're not supposed to know this, so don't tell who told.

David Broekman, recent KHJ-Don Lee batman, has been trailed in and out of CBS lately. A contract seems to be in the brewing stage. Broekman's a good man if held within bounds.

While on the subject of musicians and Columbia, we might just as well blurt out a question that's been bothering us. Why hasn't Bud Gluskin been able to land a commercial of late?

SECTION TO MEET

ANAHEIM, Jan. 11.—The Home and Garden section of Anaheim Junior Ebell meets tonight with Mrs. Charles Pearson, 725 North Clementine, to hear Robert Doser, interior decorator for Horton's Furniture store of Santa Ana. Assisting Mrs. Pearson will be Mrs. Robert Harvey and Mrs. Raymond Todd.

RHEUMATIC PAIN
RELIEVED QUICK

So Crippled With Rheumatic Pains She Could Not Do Housework — Now She Praises Van-Tage!

Some of the best-known People of This Section are praising and endorsing the "Amazing New Medicine" VAN-TAGE, and telling how it helped them.

MRS. HAYES

"For 10 years I had attacks of gaseous indigestion and bloating. Would get so dizzy I almost fell over. Sluggish kidneys got me up at night. Pains in my sluggish organs caused rheumatic pains in my arms and legs, crippling me up until I was almost helpless and couldn't do my housework. Van-Tage cleared the gas from my stomach and relieved the gaseous indigestion attacks. My kidneys are acting more normally and I don't get up at night. It cleansed so much poison from my organs that my rheumatic pains are relieved. I'll never stop praising Van-Tage!"

VAN-TAGE helps relieve rheumatic and neuritic pains by its cleansing action on certain organs of the body. It helps cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, flush impurity from sluggish kidneys. POPE'S ENVOY
WARNS OF MAN'S
WISH FOR PEACE

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—(UP)—A dramatic warning by the envoy of Pope Pius to Fuehrer Adolf Hitler that mankind calls for peace, and a reply in which Hitler pledged himself "honorably and confidently to cooperate with all nations, marked a New Year reception to the diplomatic corps today.

Monsignor Cesare Orsenigo, apol envoy, said to Hitler, speaking as dean of the diplomatic corps: "Unceasingly Confident"

"It is clearer every day that there is no human happiness without peace. Even above the growing din of armaments, mankind unceasingly confident, calls for peace. . . . May the Almighty grant that all heads of states will contribute in great measure to the materialization of world peace."

Grouped about Hitler were 51 ambassadors, ministers and charges "affaires when Monsignor Orsenigo made his statement. It obviously was directed at Germany and her gigantic rearmament, her denunciation of the Versailles treaty, her reoccupation of the Rhineland, her demand for colonies, her "Berlin-Rome" axis with Fascist Italy and her "anti-Communist" pact with Italy and Japan, the key nation of all Europe if not of the world as regards peace or war.

Hitler Responds
As the Papal envoy ended his statement, Hitler started his response:

"The peace which on the threshold of the New Year you wish for the peoples of all nations as for the whole world is also my aim and my government's effort. 'We are ready honorably and confidently to cooperate with all nations and all states and to give practical effect to this endeavor. 'May these wishes in the year 1938 above all not only fill the people themselves but find a vital expression in negotiations and deeds of government.'"

RECORD SHOWS HOW ORANGE COUNTY CITIES JOINED MWD

(Note: During the course of the largest topographic survey that has ever been undertaken by any agency other than the Federal Government engineers surveyed and mapped a total of 25,000 square miles of desert territory in order to determine the most economical and efficient route over which the Colorado River Aqueduct could be constructed. It was a vast pioneering job which required seven years to complete, and during which 100 different routes were laid out and subjected to engineering investigation between the Colorado River and the South Coast Basin. This is the sixth of a series of articles about the Colorado River Aqueduct.)

While this great pioneering job was going on in the field, a new type of pioneering was being undertaken in 13 city councils in Southern California, and in the State Legislature. Soon after the City of Los Angeles announced its field work in 1923, twelve other nearby cities—each faced with the same alarming depletion of local water supplies—sought to unite with Los Angeles to fight their common battle in a common effort. These cities varied greatly in their histories and future aspirations. Essentially residential cities like Pasadena, San Marino, and Beverly Hills, combined with rapidly growing commercial cities such as Long Beach, Glendale and Torrance. Along with these were three cities whose primary income was from the citrus industry—the cities of Santa Ana, Anaheim, and Fullerton, all located in Orange county. The famous old beach city of Santa Monica, with its palm-lined streets and its giant air-craft factory, joined hands with the fast growing communities of Burbank and Compton—all seeking a method of guaranteeing their water supply, and thus insuring the maintenance of their present development and the security for future expansion.

The problem facing these thirteen cities was the formation of a governmental body which would allow them to pool their energies and financial resources, and at the same time retain their status as independent cities. The result of their efforts was an act passed by the legislature of the state in 1927. This legislation, known as the Metropolitan Water District Act, provided the legal machinery to make it possible for two or more cities, not necessarily contiguous, to finance, build and operate a domestic water supply system. Sharing of costs and of benefits is based on the proportion that the assessed valuation of each member bears to the total assessed valuation of the entire district. Under this act the Metropolitan-

Jimmie Fidler
...in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11.—Star teams are the surest money-makers in Hollywood. Bill Powell and Myrna Loy—as a duo—are far more popular than either one is alone. Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers consort with one another as harmoniously as bread and butter, while Fred, on his own for the first time in "Damsel in Distress," comes too close a cropper for comfort. MacMurray and Lombard, Laurel and Hardy, MacDonald and Eddy—those are all names to conjure with—as long as they are linked on the theatre marquees. Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell—as a team—were worth millions. After they were separated, Janet went into a decline and Charlie vanished from the screen.

The priceless ingredient in every such combination seems to be personal harmony between the co-stars. Gaynor and Farrell were in love, consequently their love scenes were believable and appealing. All of the other great team combinations have been based on personal friendship.

And that is exactly why I cannot understand the continued teaming of Ann Sothern and Gene Raymond. Ann is a grand little actress, Gene, to the majority of fans, is an appealing personality. Either one, alone, would have a chance to reach the top. Together they are a dismal loss. I do not profess to know their reasons, but they dislike one another more thoroughly than any two co-stars in screen history. Keeping them together comes under the general heading of senseless cruelty.

Today, sitting in the Twentieth Century-Fox cafe, I watched the parade of the extra girls and bit girls. Somewhere in the background an orchestra should have been playing "The Wedding of the Painted Doll." Some are blondes, some are brunettes, a few are red-heads; some are short, some are tall, some are neither short nor tall—but each wears the same make-up, the same style of dress and the same general atmosphere of artificiality. They look like nothing so much as mannikins stamped out by a machine. While watching, one of the studio's scenarists and I tried to decide why they all conform to a single pattern . . . and gave up the task after making a few minor observations. For one thing, each one plucks her eyebrows in exactly the same "excited" fashion and, as a result, each one has an expression of wide-eyed surprise.

When Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power—until a few weeks ago the most publicized sweethearts in Hollywood—met in the studio cafe, a hush settled over the room. Everyone leans forward and does everything but cup an ear in the effort to hear any conversation between them. We are not really romantic, but, by heaven, we are the most curious, interfering, gossip-minded people that ever lived. But every day the meeting occurs—and every day we have listened

CITY MAY JOIN STATE SAFETY MOVESANTIAGO DAM LEVEL RISES NEAR CAPACITY

In spite of the fact that water stored in Santiago dam has not yet reached capacity, there is nearly eight times the amount of water impounded today than there was this time in 1937.

According to C. B. Redmon, dam custodian, there are 20,000 acre feet of water impounded at this time. On the same date last year there was a total of 2,900 acre feet impounded.

May Soon "Spill"

On last March 14, the reservoir and lake reached its capacity of 25,000 acre feet and water started pouring over the spillway. Redmon said that water will not go over the spillway again until the capacity load of 25,000 acre feet is reached. When the water pours over the spillway it tumbles into Santiago creek and is carried to the sea.

TRIBUTE PAID BOY VICTIMS

In separate funeral chapels, final tribute was paid this afternoon to two boys, both 15, who were victims of accidental shootings while riding bicycles in separate parts of the county.

At Smith and Tutill chapel here, services were conducted for Odell Handley, Register carrier boy, killed at the corner of First and H Streets, Tustin, Sunday afternoon when his chest was pierced by a .22 caliber bullet from a rifle which fell to the street from the bicycle of his companion, Albert Hutter, 15, 204 Central, Delhi.

In the original report of the accident, it was inadvertently stated that Handley was riding with Bernard Edwards, 1130 West Sixth street, whereas Edwards was driving an automobile near the scene, as the accident occurred, and gave assistance when summoned by Hutter.

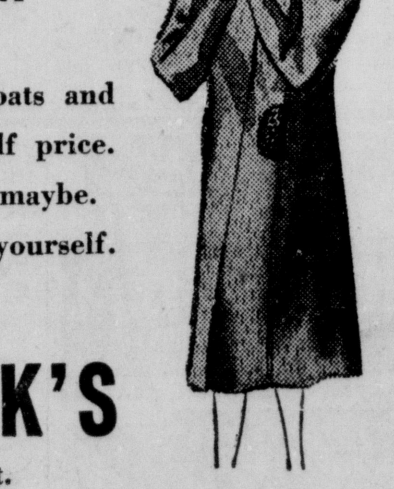

Similar Fatality
The Rev. John C. Washington of Los Angeles officiated at services for Odell, Odell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Handley, 1127 West Highland, is survived by the parents; one brother, Walter C. Odell, and a sister, Ella Mae Handley. Odell, who was born in Mulberry, Ark., had lived in Santa Ana for five years. Interment was in Fairhaven cemetery.

In almost exactly the same way, Bob Elliott, second victim, of Anaheim, was shot with a .22 caliber rifle. The accident occurred in Anaheim the previous Sunday, when Jimmy Starr, his companion, fell from his bicycle and the gun was discharged. Funeral services were held this afternoon at Barks, Terry and Campbell funeral chapel, Anaheim, with the Rev. Thomas H. Walter officiating. Interment was in Anaheim cemetery.

4 INSTRUCTORS NAMED TO AID TRADE COURSES

Approval of four instructors for trade extension classes to be started shortly in connection with the Santa Ana adult education program was voted by the board of education last evening, following recommendation of the four by W. W. Wieman, who will supervise the trade and apprentice instruction; also by the local committee on the project, including Theomon Means, contractor, and Goodrich W. Bassett, secretary of the Orange County Builders Exchange.

Twice Each Week
L. B. Anderson, instructor in carpentry; Harry Becker, instructor in electrical work; Harry R. McCoy, of Tustin, instructor of sheet metal work, were three of the instructors approved. A fourth will teach plastering.

Classes will be conducted twice a week, Wieman said last night. The trade extension classes for craftsmen already in the trades will be organized first, the apprentice classes to be started later in the spring.

Wieman was asked whether the instructors are members of unions. "I pointedly didn't inquire into that," he replied.

Believe Transient Hurt by Santa Fe Train To Recover

In spite of the serious injuries to Thomas Feeley, 50, transient, who was carrying a camp outfit last Wednesday night in Fullerton when he stepped in front of a Santa Fe train, he was reported improved at county hospital today. Feeley's right arm was so badly mangled amputation was necessary, officials reported. According to officials, he either became confused and staggered onto the tracks or deliberately tried to take his own life.

Some said he apparently was trying to board the train, others asserting he was waving a quart of whiskey above his head and was intoxicated. At first his life was despaired of, but now it is believed he will recover.

79 AUTOISTS ANSWER PARKING COUNTS IN COURT SINCE JAN. 1

Seventy-six persons have appeared in Santa Ana city court before Judge J. G. Mitchell on charges of illegal parking and three on charges of failing to appear in answer to parking violation citations since January 1.

Most of those appearing brought with them from two to seven illegal parking tickets, chiefly for overtime parking. Some, however, had but one ticket each.

191 In Court
Last month, 191 persons charged with them from two to seven tickets for illegal parking, were in court to pay fines.

Although officials pointed out that the traffic violations have brought approximately $150 into city coffers since the first of the year, they expressly added that the tickets were not being given out to bolster the city income, but to clear traffic congestion. Of 50 warrants, many of which have been issued in the past week because violators have failed to appear in court, a dozen have been served, according to records. Many other warrants are to be issued, officials said, if traffic offenders fail to appear.

REALTORS PICK METER GROUP

Investigation of the feasibility of parking meters for the city of Santa Ana was under way today as Earl B. Hawks, president of the Santa Ana Realty Board, announced the appointment of W. F. Croddy, W. B. Martin, and Mrs. Ann Thompson on a committee, authorized by the board last Friday.

Croddy, member of the city planning commission, who heads the committee, termed the parking situation "acute" and made the motion acted upon by the realtors for the inquiry.

Eight Women Vie For Jaycee Posts

Balloting for second semester Women's Athletic Association officers at Santa Ana Junior college continued today as eight women students vied for the four posts. Voting was conducted both yesterday and today in the women's physical education classes, President Helen Lowe announced.

Nominees being voted upon are Elaine McKeeney and Irene McFarland, running for president; Mary Ann Low and Peggy Paxton, for vice-president; Eleanor Brady and Betty Neff, secretary; and Irene Noble and Thelma Marks, treasurer.

The new officers will replace Miss Lowe, president; Anne Wetherell, vice-president; Mary Henderson, secretary; and Roberta Nichols, treasurer. New sports managers will be named to replace Mary Ann Low, basketball; and Irene Noble, tennis.

S. A. DELEGATE LIKELY TO BE CHOSEN SOON

Alarm over what officials describe as "the fearful toll taken annually in Santa Ana and Orange county traffic accidents," may lead to authorization of a representative of this city to attend the 1938 convention of the California Traffic Safety Commission Jan. 28 and 29 at Fresno, Elmer Heidt, head of the local safety commission, announced today.

The meeting, announced today by Ray Ingels, state motor vehicle director, will join delegates from all parts of the state to discuss all phases of a campaign to reduce highway deaths, including drunken driving, traffic engineering, safety education, and law enforcement.

Tells Of Recommendations
In commenting on the local situation, Heidt said: There has been unofficial recommendations from the members of the commission for the installation of additional sodium vapor lamps at dangerous intersections in an effort to put a halt to the traffic fatalities in Santa Ana.

The commission also advocates that all persons crossing the highways at night wear some portion of white clothing. If people, especially those advanced in age, would carry an opened white handkerchief or a similar conspicuous piece of apparel, they would have a better chance of being seen by motorists.

Awaits Authorization
"The commission is doing everything possible to make Santa Ana and Orange county a safe place in which to live and every precaution taken may be the means of saving a human life," Heidt said.

V. L. Motry, member of the commission, has been named as a possible delegate and today said he would go if authorized.

Other members of the commission are: Frank Henderson, the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, Charles Swanner, and A. A. Hardy. Plummer Bruns, police commissioner is an ex-officio member.

Stanford Women Elect Officers and Plan Future Events

Election of Miss Thelma Patton as president, and a group of capable officers to serve with her, was of great importance at last night's meeting of Orange County Stanford Women's club with Miss Barbara Rurup, 1631 West Washington avenue.

Named to serve with Miss Patton were Mrs. Edward Elliott (Huntington Beach), vice president; Miss Barbara Rurup, secretary; and Miss Mary Tuthill, treasurer. Election was followed by a discussion of money-raising plans for the benefit of Stanford Women. Scholarship fund, and it was determined to hold a one-act play tournament, with more specific plans to be announced later.

With business discussions concluded, members turned their attention to bridge play at a pleasant interval, culminated by the serving of sandwiches, various relishes, cakes and coffee. Miss Rurup served from a table gay with scarlet tapers matching the berries on the greenery massed as a centerpiece.

Her guests included Mrs. J. Parley Smith, Mrs. Robert Gild, Mrs. Douglas Ferrey, Mrs. Mabel Dixon, Mrs. Ross Shafer, the Misses Mary Tuthill and Thelma Patton of this city; Mrs. J. K. McDonald, Mrs. Edna Condon, Mrs. Edward Elliott and Miss Margaret Swingle, Huntington Beach. The new president, Miss Patton, will be hostess at the February meeting in her home, 1103 North Broadway.

Navy Ball Plans Are Of Local Interest

Among those planning to attend eighth annual navy ball Saturday night in Los Angeles Biltmore hotel are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Armstrong of Long Beach, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Wilbur Barr, 701 East Santa Clara avenue.

The Armstrongs made many friends in this community last year while they were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Barr. Since that time they have taken up residence in Long Beach, and are continuing pleasant associations with their friends in this community.

In the same party with the Armstrongs Saturday night will be Miss Winnie Fred Jacobs, who also was a houseguest of the Barrs last year. Miss Jacobs is daughter of Captain and Mrs. Walter Jacobs. She and the Armstrongs will be among the scores of guests assembling at the Rendezvous for cocktails in advance of the gala ball.

At the affair Saturday night, Southland society will pay homage to Arthur J. Speakers Bring Vital Matters to Ebell Consideration

Contrasting the unusually successful theatrical and hotel season in New York, recognized as the best in many years, with the distress that prevails down on Sixth avenue among the hundreds of unemployed, Mrs. Jack Valley gave a graphic picture of conditions in the east when she appeared yesterday before Ebell society of Santa Ana Valley.

That she found this winter's trip east "more vivid, more startling and more alarming" than any previous trip in several years' time, was emphasized by Mrs. Valley who declared that the only one comparing with it was that of 1932, when the historic Bonus Army reached Washington. Her deductions were based of course on conditions in the national capital as well as New York City, for there she found an even more alarming situation, with everyone uncertain as to what the administration might do.

One of the most significant things she observed in Washington was that blue within the House of Representatives called popularly, "The Young Turks," led by Maverick of Texas, and with Jerry Voorhees of California as one of the principal. This, with the effect of non-partisan leagues on the coming Congressional elections, she declared to be the most significant things in American public life today.

This review of Mrs. Valley's, with its emphasis on pro-labor activities of the Young Turks, was especially interesting as a sequel to the half hour's talk by Mrs. Bessie Oaks of Los Angeles on her organization, "Neutral Thousands." For the Neutral Thousands is formed, according to Mrs. Oaks, to prevent racketeering in labor unions.

Mrs. Oaks, introduced by Mrs. W. S. Thompson, Ebell president, at the close of the business session, told of the manner in which her interest has been aroused during the maritime strike, and the untold millions it cost the State of California, to say nothing of suffering among the striking families. The sum lost by this strike, would more than pay for three great projects: Boulder Dam, and the two giant bridges spanning San Francisco Bay, she declared. The purpose of her organization is to maintain neutral between employers and employed, she stated, pointing out that the paternalism that once distinguished big business, no longer exists. She decried the apathy on the subject existing among women, and pled for the clubwomen in her audience, to think clearly and seriously on the situation of racketeering intervention in labor conditions.

Mrs. Valley, presented by Mrs. Roy Shafer, program chairman, after this short talk, closed her summary of conditions in the east by rapidly sketching in salient points of the list of books programed, Carl Crow's "I Speak for the Chinese," she designated as of special value and significance, summarizing in 82 pages, virtually all of importance on that ancient country. Best of the biographies she declared were "Madame Curie" by her daughter, Eve Curie, not to be missed, and Ludwig's posthumous "Cleopatra." The simplicity of Eleanor Roosevelt's "This Is My Story," she found rather irritating at times, in view of the potential drama of what the "First Lady" had to relate, but hopes that after a few years, she will give a more dramatic version.

After discussing at some length the Stewart book, "John Phoenix Esq.," really the story of Captain Derby, acclaimed by William Dean Howells as this country's foremost humorist, she gave the rest of her interval to three of the 14 New York plays she had enjoyed, "Of Mice and Men" (Steinbeck) which she liked as fully as she had disliked the book from which it was dramatized; "I'd Rather Be Right" (Kaufman and Hart) starring George M. Cohan in a political satire that could be produced in no other country in the world, as she explained, and finally the extreme success of "Fanny Hessel" which one of its producers, Oregon Wells, in the role of Brutus. The play, simply staged and played in modern dress is attaining one of the greatest successes of the New York theatrical year, and brought audiences to their feet nightly in ringing cheers.

In the business session preceding the program, Mrs. Thompson called attention to two approaching events, the all day meeting in the clubhouse on Tuesday, January 25, under auspices of the drama section, which Mrs. L. L. Beemag is chairman, and with noon luncheon at Danikers, and the musical program scheduled for Monday afternoon, January 24, featuring Michael Sorenson, baritone and Richard Tetley Condon, pianist.

Eleven-year Old Lad Has Birthday Party

Saturday brought the eleventh birthday anniversary of Harry Haganeg, who celebrated the occasion with a merry affair in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bingle, 1416 West Fourth street. Mrs. Frank Castello assisted her daughter, Mrs. Bingle in entertaining.

Planning the tail on the donkey was one of the most popular diversions, with prizes going to Jack Creighton and Jack Dietler. Other games were played. Presentation of birthday gifts to Harry was followed by a pleasant interval during which decorated cake and ice cream were served with other dainties. Baskets of candies marked the places at a prettily-arranged table.

Present in addition to Harry Haganeg were Frank Purington, Jack Creighton, Martha and Virginia Dombek, Stanley Strengberg, Robert Wiegand, John Vaughn, Jack Dietler, Helen Hane, Emaline Bingle, Mr. and Mrs. Bingle and Mr. and Mrs. Castello.

Present last night were Marie Kennedy, Gladys Young, Kay Rasmussen, Yuarda Akerman, Dennie Black, Lillian Thorpe, Gladys Lieberman, Donna Carpenter and Rosann Harcastle.

Several members of Legion Mothers club assembled in Veterans hall yesterday afternoon for a special meeting, devoting the time to working on quilts. Covered-dish luncheon was enjoyed at noon.

Present were Mesdames Amy Stewart, Elma McKay, Hattie Stowe, Fannie Rose, Iona Sharp, Cora Adams and Annie Gale.

Belated gift exchange will be a feature of the next regular meeting, Monday, January 24, in the hall.

Special Features Come In Compliment To Quill Pen Hostess

Pleasant as was the hospitality extended last night by Mrs. Malcolm Macurda, 1620 North Baker street, to Quill Pen club, there was an undercurrent of regret that the organization is to lose Mrs. Macurda with the departure of the family for El Centro. It was at her own request that she served as hostess at this final meeting before her departure Friday.

Each member programmed for the evening produced the required manuscript with interesting results, for romance, verse and articles were represented. Mrs. Frank Wilsey read the opening of a story developed in letter form, for which the name of "The Coming Emeline" was suggested by Mrs. Maynard Thompson. Mrs. Roy Winchester's informative article was on the theme, "Teacher Guidance of Mexican Mothers," a practical development of ideas suggested by her teaching experience.

Miss Verna Wells returned to the romance theme with her cleverly plotted little story, "Not Identical"; Mrs. Carleton Smith read two amusing little poems, "Quill Pen" and one which she had written especially for the hostess and titled "To Ethel," and Mrs. Marshall Harnois completed the program with an article "Fun With Cork," describing the decorative possibilities of sheet cork.

For the refreshment interval when the hostess served a luscious dessert with coffee, she was tendered aid of some half dozen members, all of whom discovered that their own trays, like those they passed, had fascinating little silken sachets concealed within folds of their napkins. Mrs. Macurda had made the souvenirs, which small Audrey Macurda, daughter of the home, had arranged within the napkin folds as a surprise. Audrey and her brother Neal had assisted their mother in receiving guests before saying their goodnights.

The hostess found her own tray heaped with packages, for club members had planned a handkerchief shower as a surprise to her. Examination of the packages was enjoyed by everyone, but pleasant than this was the interval of music, when Mrs. Macurda played a succession of requested numbers, including many of her own composition of which club members are fond.

Those sharing her hospitality were Miss Verna Wells, Mesdames S. B. Marshall, Frank Wilsey, Roy Winchester, Frank Was, Marshall Harnois, J. D. Campbell, Blanche Brown, Harry M. Smith, Maynard Thompson, Carleton Smith, Katherine Conover and Emmett Elliott. Mrs. Marshall's deferred hospitality will be extended at the next meeting, January 24, when manuscripts will be due from Mrs. William Fritcher, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Harry M. Smith and Mrs. J. U. Viau.

Present in addition to Harry Haganeg were Frank Purington, Jack Creighton, Martha and Virginia Dombek, Stanley Strengberg, Robert Wiegand, John Vaughn, Jack Dietler, Helen Hane, Emaline Bingle, Mr. and Mrs. Bingle and Mr. and Mrs. Castello.

Young Couple Exchange Views at Quiet Rites In San Bernardino

P. Padias, Red Hill avenue, Tustin, the ceremony taking place yesterday afternoon. The young couple motored to San Bernardino for the nuptials, for which they were accompanied by Miss Naomi Rogers and Edward Calvin of this city. Returning to this community, the bridegroom and bride visited both the Padias and Dunkin homes, remaining as honor guests at a family dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Dunkin.

Mr. and Mrs. Padias already have taken up residence in a pleasant little home which they had all in readiness south of Santa Ana. The bridegroom who attended Tustin Union High school, is employed at Irvine warehouse. His bride attended Santa Ana High school.

Several informal parties have been planned to honor the newly-wedded pair, continuing a series complimenting the bride in her engagement days.

Sunday Afternoon Tea Enjoyed By Southland Artists

Entertaining the Carolyn Alchin Harmony association Sunday afternoon, Miss Leonora Tompkins of this city, and Miss Zula Ziegler, supervisor of music in Glendale High school, were privileged to receive their guests in the beautiful home of Mrs. Lon Smith on Lorraine boulevard, Los Angeles.

This home, with its pipe organ, its grand piano and other musical equipment, was an ideal setting for such a gathering of artists, and to its handsome furnishings were added the masses of tropical blossoms gathered from the landscaped garden.

These were especially beautiful as an adjunct to the tea hour when Mrs. J. H. Tompkins, mother of one of the hostesses, and Miss Howell, head of the U. S. C. Harmony department, took their places at the silver tea and coffee urns.

Before this interval however, a wonderful afternoon of music had been enjoyed, for the hostesses had planned a presentation of the First and Seventh Symphonies of Beethoven. Following this musical interlude was spirited discussion of the composer and his work.

Experiences in London Are Related After Piano Program

Hostess Saturday afternoon to the Women's auxiliary of Orange County Osteopathic association, Mrs. Horace J. Howard, 2404 North French street, was assisted by Mrs. W. Jackson Scott of Fullerton, in presenting an interesting program for the group.

Mrs. Howard as president of the auxiliary, prefaced program features with a short business interval during which Dr. Berenice Bennet of Huntington Beach extended invitation to the auxiliary to meet with her in February.

Mrs. Scott introduced the program by presenting a gifted young Japanese girl, 11-year-old Alice Imamoto of Fullerton, who played a group of piano solos. This young girl recently won national honors for the Piano Teachers' guild, having memorized and played brilliantly an even score of compositions. She is a pupil of Miss Johnson of Fullerton.

The travel talk which followed, was given by Mrs. Albert Stuelke, English teacher of Fullerton Junior college. She and her family toured Europe the past summer, but she devoted her talk to London alone, giving the auxiliary members an unforgettable picture of the famous old city during Coronation year.

Closing her hospitality with the tea hour, Mrs. Howard accorded to Mrs. J. A. Nanno, the post of honor at the silver tea service placed at one end of the beautifully appointed table. Narcissus and sweet peas were mingled in a low silver bowl centering the table.

The majority of members present were from the northern part of the county and included Mesdames W. N. Isley, Frank Isley, Ira P. Gardiner, W. J. Scott, J. A. Nanno and Miss Faustina Nanno, Fullerton; with Mrs. E. S. Glenger, Buena Park; Dr. Berenice Bennet, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Lawrence Young and the hostess, Mrs. Howard, Santa Ana.

C. OF C. HOLDS ANNUAL DINNER

ORANGE, Jan. 11.—Marked by gaiety and informality was the annual session of the Orange Chamber of commerce last night, when members of service clubs, patriotic organizations and other groups joined the host organization in participation in the event.

W. O. Hart, newly elected president, is in Mexico and he sent a telegram expressing regret at inability to be present.

Club Gets Prize
The picture of the out-going president, Frank Collins, was presented to the chamber of commerce and will be hung in the chamber of commerce offices with other presidents who have served in this capacity. The Business and Professional Women's club was awarded the prize for having the largest number of members present in proportion to their membership. A trio from Long Beach gave a program of instrumental and vocal numbers, with Mrs. Bess Coe accompanying for vocal selections.

When seated at the banquet tables balloons were handed each guest and a carnival atmosphere marked the first part of the evening, with business men and women, ranchers and city and county officials entering heartily in keeping the balloons afloat.

George Bartley and Sheldon Swenson were in charge of the distribution of door prizes, which went to Mrs. Glen Reck, Mrs. George Franzen, Miss Florence Boosey, Mrs. Herbert Wallace, Miss Lula Kenyon, Mrs. Eula Weaver, Miss Grace Meyer and Mrs. C. E. Short.

One of the most interesting features of the program was presented by the chorus of the Business and Professional Women's club singing two selections "Sylvia" and "An Old Russian Air." Mrs. Marie Daugherty directed and Mrs. Audrey Isbell Peterson was accompanist. Members were attractive in black frocks with white gardenia corsages.

Frank Collins made a brief talk and Clyde Watson, who presided, outlined accomplishments of the chamber of commerce the past year.

SPEAKER ASKS FOR SUPPORT OF ESTABLISHED INDUSTRIES

ORANGE, Jan. 11.—Urging the support of industries and business places already established, rather than the seeking and promotion of factories representing an unknown quantity, Geoffrey Morgan, state assemblyman from Santa Monica, addressed a group of near 300 persons at the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce at the Orange Woman's clubhouse.

Morgan was introduced by Assemblyman Clyde Watson, who presided. His subject was "Watch Homeberg Grow." The speaker pointed out that California is the fastest growing state in the union and that it is very probable that those now living in the state will see the population doubled. This is the only state, he said, where all the people of the other states want to come.

"Future residents are going to look first for good schools as family life is one of the greatest motivating factors in existence," Morgan said. "Second they will look for good churches, well paved and lighted streets, good libraries, good business buildings and good stores."

Morgan also stressed the great importance of comfortable homes at rents new residents can afford to pay. Beauty is one of California's greatest assets, the speaker said. People should look their towns over with the eye of a stranger to see "sore spots." The chamber of commerce is a cross section of the community, said the speaker.

He pointed out that when the first settlers came to Southern California they found nothing but the blue sky above and the brown earth beneath, everything else which goes to make up present development being man-made.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

NO CHOICE

My son, a very ambitious boy, is sick. The doctors say that his heart is bad and that he must stay in bed for weeks now and be perfectly quiet. He is heartbroken because he must lose his school work. How can we help him to keep up with his schoolmates? He must have an education. What can we do?

There is no choice between an education and a child's health. Or life. All the knowledge that the world holds is useless to one who is too ill to use it. And what knowledge, what honors, can pay for the loss of a child's life? It is hard for a boy or a girl to have to fall out of the parade, to know that the line will pass by and leave him behind. But there are many hard things that have to be faced by all of us. Nobody escapes sorrow, or pain, or failure. Each has his share. This lad must lie in bed quietly when he is longing to lead his classmates. Another has only one good leg to stand on and must go lamely through life. Another loses family and home. One longs for an education and cannot have it. Yet each goes on and manages to get happiness out of the going somehow.

Acceptance of the fact helps. "This thing has come upon me, but it shall not overwhelm me. There will be some way out. Some door will open for me if I keep watching and hoping and getting ready." That attitude will go far toward righting things. If one can understand that there are many roads to the Celestial City of one's dreams, and that the roundabout road arrives there at last, an step cheerfully forward on the twisted way, help comes.

Many successful, happy people have arrived by a road they had not dreamed of taking. Something happened that changed their direction, their plans, their hopes, but because they had to go on, because they forced themselves to go ahead in the way that opened they reached the end of their journey triumphantly. They would not think of taking the road of their lost dream were it offered them. They found what they asked of life in what life offered them.

So I would say to the sick children, to the disappointed ones, to the sorrow-stricken ones, accept this thing that has fallen upon you. Accept it as a fact as you do the weather and as easily. That is about what it amounts to in the end. You have to live through a bad spell of weather, but if you want to go through the storm and reach your journey's end, you can. Wait. While you wait, hope. While you hope have faith. On your faith, work. While you work hold fast to the thought of the Infinite Power of which you are a part. With the Infinite Power in you and about you, all things are possible. And to the fathers and mothers of such children let me say: Wait. Wait and hope and hold your faith. There is no finality in his life. There is always something unaccountable, something beyond, something uplifting, and grand and lovely. Hold to it.

CHAMBER COMMITTEES APPOINTED AT H. B.

LEGION CORPS TO HOLD FIRST 1938 MEETING

News that Harold Carnahan, of Santa Ana, has been signally honored by appointment to the state drum corps committee of the American Legion was revealed here today with the announcement that the first 1938 meeting of the local corps would be held in the American Legion hall at 8 p. m. today.

Hope that Hunter Leach, city detective sergeant who recently was in the hospital as the result of a major operation, and who is corps commander, would be at tonight's session, were expressed by leaders of the organization this morning.

Two Experts Here
Preparatory to a drive for national honors at the 1938 national convention of the Legion, the local unit will be a 52-piece affair, and will be coached during the year by Bert Ruth, of Los Angeles, nationally known musical director, and James Sun, of Clark's band in Long Beach, bugle instructor. The drum corps will meet each Tuesday evening for the rest of the year.

In addition to the reorganization of the corps, the following officers will take their posts: C. E. Hamilton, first sergeant, Ross Howe, quartermaster sergeant, and Ed Kolbe, who is entertainment committee chairman.

Auxiliary to Meet
Carnahan was named to his post as commander, at a national meeting from which the former has just returned.

Members of the Women's auxiliary of the corps will meet at 8 p. m. tomorrow, with Mrs. Homer Welch in charge. A new commander will be elected, and plans will be completed whereby the auxiliary will work in conjunction with the corps throughout the year.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(UP)—Aimee McPherson, Angelus Temple evangelist, today lost another of her aides with the resignation of Rev. Earl J. Smith, father-in-law of Rolf McPherson.

Smith has been doing evangelistic work for Mrs. McPherson in the middle western and southern states for the past three years. His daughter, Lorna Lee Smith, married Mrs. McPherson's son, Rolf, several years ago.

SICK LEAVE ALLOWANCE FOR SCHOOL TEACHERS CONSIDERED

Recommendation of Superintendent Frank Henderson for sick leave allowance to teachers in the adult education department was taken under investigation by the board of education last night, action probably to be determined by findings regarding the practice in other schools.

Henderson recommended one day's leave per semester for each class taught, which would compare with the 10 days leave granted teachers in the day schools, he said. Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education, reminded the board that adult class teachers have had no salary increases for several years and such an allowance would be an appreciated gesture of consideration.

Class Divided
The board approved division of the custodian's class in night school into two groups, because it has grown to unwieldy proportions, with 71 attending from all parts of the county. The instructor, from Los Angeles, received $6 per night.

The engineering class, requested by the Orange County Engineering club last fall, opened January 4 with 23 members, it was reported. Dr. D. M. Wilson, of U. S. C. is instructor, at $25 fee per night. The schools pay $4 of the fee, class members paying the rest.

Travel Series Approved
Approval also was given the request that Mrs. Annie Bethencourt teach classes of Mexican women in child welfare and hygiene; likewise to plan for a series of travel aids to those planning summer travel, including national parks, Mexico, Europe and the Orient. Visual education and lectures would be included. Dean Calvin Flint of junior college; T. H. Glenn, also of junior college; Mrs. Bethencourt and Mrs. Julia Hyde would present the lectures.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINE STORIES OF LAGUNA WRITERS PUBLISHED

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 11.—Members of Laguna's colony prominent in many of the liberal arts are making considerable headway. Photographic classes conducted by Orville Goodrich, under auspices of the adult education program of night school activities, have been increased to three sessions weekly, each session of two hours.

Instruction is given to beginners, advanced amateurs and those desirous of becoming professional photographers, over 50 pupils have enrolled.

In literature, Charles F. "Chuck" Reinsner, after many years in Hollywood, has turned out a book "Inch High People." The book is an attractive collection of stories based upon obscure European folklore. A foreword by Angelo Patri, noted "Register" contributor, with illustrations and lyrics, make the book an attractive one. W. F. Kay has finished a three-year job on the manuscript of "Village By the Sea," locale, characters and story of which are strictly Lagunan.

Earl Scott has three western stories in current pulp magazines, putting him in the Walt Coburn class for output and simultaneous publication. In radio, Laguna Beach is represented by Mrs. Leslie F. Kimmel, with weekly book reviews; Cleo Allen Hibbs, who broadcasts from Long Beach weekly, his own musical compositions being featured and Capt. Don Wilkie is broadcasting Saturday night stories, highly fictionalized, same being mysteries solved by patient effort. Wilkie's broadcasts are in the interest of a mid-west school of fingerprinting and detection.

DRIVE CAREFULLY -SAVE A LIFE-

THE LABOR RACKETS

"Just as government reaches into business to punish fraud, dishonesty or use of violence, government should reach into labor unions to punish intimidation, abuses in organizing, unlawful picketing and other forms of coercion which are not now and never have been contemplated by the right to strike."—David Lawrence.

UNRECONSTRUCTED REBEL

Regardless of how we feel toward the political principles for which he stands, Sen. Carter Glass richly deserves the tribute he received last week on passing his 80th birthday.

Here is a man, frail now and old, who has spent almost half of his 80 years in the public service, as Virginia state senator, congressman, secretary of treasury, and United States senator.

Never once during those years did Carter Glass compromise with his convictions. Sharp-witted and sharp-tongued, a staunch ally and a bitter foe, he has spent his life doing his duty as he sees it, and let the chips fall where they may.

He is proud of his Roosevelt-bestowed badge of "Unreconstructed Rebel."

COUNTY MEDICS CELEBRATE

When the Orange County Medical association celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of its founding tonight at the Santa Ana County club, one more of its founders will be missing. Dr. C. D. Ball, however, will be there in spirit, if such a thing is possible.

When Dr. James P. Boyd of Santa Ana rises to speak, he undoubtedly will look down upon the seated members of the medical fraternity searching for one of his old associates. But his search will be in vain. He alone, of that sturdy little body of country doctors who formed the organization half a century ago, lives to recall the first meeting.

Much water has passed under the bridge since that first meeting in 1887. And great strides have been made in medicine. Ever changing is the group that meets each year, but the few that gathered together fifty years ago, and organized the Orange County Medical association played their part in life's drama and tonight's meeting undoubtedly will be a tribute to those hardy pioneers—the country doctors of yesteryear.

THE PROPER PROCEDURE

From time to time we have taken occasion to criticize the courts for failure to be more severe with reckless and drunken drivers. However, Judge J. G. Mitchell in city court Saturday sent four to jail for 75 days each upon conviction of drunk driving charges.

Judge Mitchell is to be commended for his action. It is the proper procedure for the courts to take if this menace of the highways is to be eradicated.

No one will find fault with Judge Mitchell, or any other judge, for harsh treatment of drunk and reckless drivers. Justice Kenneth Morrison, for many years, has been imposing stiff fines and sentences on these offenders, and there has not been one word of criticism. Seventy-five days spent in the county jail gives a man plenty of time to think things over, and it's our opinion that the man who once has served a term for drunk or reckless driving will never serve another term for the same offense.

A stiff fine isn't enough. In an emergency one can, and most always does, raise the necessary funds to pay a fine. His friends will come to his rescue, or his relatives. But a friend, or relative can't serve time for him in the county jail.

Judge Mitchell has started the New Year right and it's our fervent hope that other jurists in the county follow his plan.

CASH FOR SAFE DRIVING

The careful motorist is to be financially rewarded for safe driving, according to an announcement from the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters.

In the past, motorists have paid the same price, based upon the accident experience in the localities where they live and the type of car they drive, for automobile bodily injury and property damage liability insurance. This has penalized the careful motorist. Though he might operate his car year after year without a mishap, his insurance cost him as much as it did the driver who was periodically involved in accidents. Now member companies of the national bureau have decided to write insurance on an entirely new basis.

The new basis is the "safe driver reward plan" which guarantees to automobile policyholders a 15 per cent return of their annual premium provided no claims are brought under policies during the 12 months after the effective date of the plan. The reward will be payable 30 days after the expiration of the policy year through the agent or broker. All private automobiles covered with bodily injury and property damage insurance by the member companies will be eligible, with the exception of those which are subject to the automobile fleet plan, the experience rating plan, or some other special plan.

It will be highly interesting to watch the effects of this new plan on the accident rate. Under it, to drive safely means that you are directly putting hard cash dollars in your pocket, as well as preventing accidents.

A CHALLENGE TO THE COMMITTEE WHO ADVOCATES RUGG'S BOOKS AS TEXT BOOKS

On the first page appears a quotation from volume 6, page 309 from "Red" Rugg's text books. It is to the effect that the laws are made by the wealthy to the detriment of the great mass of voters.

This belief, of course, causes untold hardships and results in laws being passed that add to the misery and suffering and lowers the standard of living of the great mass of workers.

We have repeatedly asked socialists and educators who believe this statement to name one law passed by Congress in the last 25 years that the majority of voters did not want—that was desired by the wealthy. They never have named a single law.

Even the tariff laws were passed because the majority of industrial workers believed in protective tariff. They were not passed because the manufacturers wanted them, because they had very few votes, but were passed because the workers believed they would profit by them.

No negative can be proven. We cannot prove that this statement is not true, unless we can prove that the believers of this statement cannot furnish a single instance of a law substantiating their pernicious claim.

To have the educators throughout the land being constantly administering subtle, sugar-coated, untruths sandwiched in with pictures and stories is certainly the worst possible kind of education. The amount of harm that this kind of propaganda does to society as a whole is immeasurable.

Most of the educators actually believe this statement to be true.

Then, why should they continue to indoctrinate this kind of falsehood into the minds of the youth? The only explanation is that they are too mentally lazy to get the facts.

UNPOPULAR BELIEFS AS TO CAUSES OF UNEMPLOYMENT

Yesterday, we discussed the popular beliefs as to the cause of unemployment. Now we want to point out the unpopular belief.

As stated yesterday, there are 17,000,000 small producers who are not wage earners. When any group of wage earners have their wages—their share of the national income—rapidly increased by public opinion or by force, then these wage earners whose incomes have been largely increased without increasing actual production, must of necessity get a much larger fraction of the national income than those workers whose incomes have not been increased. These workers then whose incomes have remained on a competitive basis are not able to trade what they produce for the things workers produce whose wages have been artificially advanced. In other words, the competitive worker is obliged to work one or two or three hours in exchange for one hour of arbitrary wage. This makes it impossible for the workers on the competitive basis to buy the products produced by the arbitrary wages.

This throws the capital used in producing for all people out of line and causes a great lot of the capital to be of less value and reduces the income for the owners. This further reduces the purchasing power and causes more unemployment.

There is nothing that so rapidly throws men out of work as a rapid and artificial change of purchasing power as a result of interference with the free and natural exchange of services or things.

Definite Interference in Wages

During the last two years, under the Wagner act, certain groups of wage earners have had their hourly wages materially increased and when they felt they were protected by the union they performed less service with the increased wage than they did before. This very materially ran up the cost of the products they were helping produce. The cost of these commodities, such as automobiles, steel, railroads, coal and every commodity produced under an artificial wage scale, has rapidly increased so that the 17,000,000 people who worked for themselves were not able to buy these products.

As an example of this rapid decline, look at the housing industry. The wages on builders, lumber, millmen and steel operators and freight, etc., rapidly increased so that many of the people who were on the competitive basis were not able to build the home they would like to have.

It is doubtful whether ever in our history has there been such a rapid artificial increase in unit cost of some wages as there has been in the last two years. And this unit cost in wages includes taxes because practically all of the taxes go for the wages of the government employees who have been so materially increased in numbers.

This, of course, is the unpopular belief of the cause of unemployment. It is much easier to believe that we could magically increase wages and cause employment than to believe that the American system, or the free enterprise system, grants each individual the right to learn to do the kind of work that he thinks is paying the highest rate per a given unit of production. To interfere with this law, is always to cause unemployment; is always to reduce the standard of living because every trade—every exchange of commodities or services, is done only by the belief that both parties are being benefited—both parties are getting more wealth than they had before the exchange. They are getting what they want and what gives them enjoyment.

We are teaching in our public schools that wages do not need to be on a competitive basis; that if they are on a competitive basis they will be low. But every time in history they have been on a competitive basis, there has been full employment, relatively large production and a constantly increasing standard of living. Every time in history they have been on a non-competitive or artificial basis, as they have been for the last two years, there eventually is a great deal of unemployment, great restriction in production and a lower standard of living.

The columns of this paper are open for discussion on this vital question.

'Wonder If He Means What He Says?'

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

CHICAGO, Ill.—I talked to about 1000 furniture men in Chicago last night. They came from all parts of the union. They include some big wholesalers, but by far the bulk of them are retailers—the "little fellow in business" of purest ray serene.

The principal act of this kind of a show is for the speaker to assume the role of African dodger at a county fair and undertake to try to answer questions about business and government—or to say he doesn't know.

I think it is the best gauge of group opinion that could possibly be devised. You can go to a town and call on five or six big shots and ask them how conditions are and what people are thinking. What you usually get are five or six dissertations on five or six individual hobbies, peevish or enthusiastic in thinking. Or you can ask cab drivers or Pullman porters and other casual pick-ups or listen to state-of-the-Union conferences in Pullman smokers, clubs and cocktail bars. These are good but fragmentary. Also, in all these cases where you ask the other fellow the question, put him in a miniature spotlight. More or less he has to dramatize himself and speak his little piece. This doesn't always make for frankness.

But when you get a cross-section of the whole country, in a particular trade or calling, into a room and let them ask spontaneous questions without either rising or telling their names, you can tell far better from their questions in an hour, what is troubling their souls, than from all the interviews with them you could crowd into a week. This is emphasized by the inbred American trait of wanting to talk back if the answer isn't right, and also by the reaction of the crowd to both questions and answers. It is an educational experience and the best indoor sport I know.

Well, so what about this congress of little fellows? In the first place, in three years of doing this occasionally and in 44 states, I have never seen the interest in what is going on in Washington so intense. Why wouldn't it be? These people clearly believe that their fortunes and their livelihoods now depend on that more directly than on any other thing.

Next, their knowledge of the principal issues is astonishing—much better than that of some Congressmen I know. They lap up every bit of news and comment that comes through the newspapers or over the air. Whatever harm the Third New Deal has done to other businesses, it certainly has put this column racket on the map.

The important and incontestable conclusion to me was that this crowd doesn't want any part of the Third New Deal in its recent aspects.

If the strategy of centering attacks only on big business or only on a few bad business men, was intended to retain and reassure the support of the little fellow, it hasn't worked so far as this trade is concerned.

The feeling is not merely adverse and apprehensive. It is hostile and bitter. That may be a little exaggerated just now because business is very bad, but it was too vivid and too nearly unanimous to leave any doubt that it is a conviction. In about 100 questions covering a range of nearly as many subjects—from war to agriculture—there was only one that indicated the slightest sympathy with recent developments of Administration policy.

The outstanding impression of all, was that of skepticism, suspicion or outright scoffing at the sincerity of Administration pronouncements.

That is a result of being over and over again—and nearly always in an emergency—clever, clever, too damned clever.

these goods became scarce. In order to get them, he must bid against others who have the money to buy also. Thus the price goes up, and we have what we call inflation.

If England or any other debtor nation paid us off in "printing press money" we would immediately feed the money to them and present that money, demanding goods which they had produced. If they did not have all the goods our money called for then we would buy from some other nation, who in turn would demand goods they wanted from the debtor nation. The people of the debtor nation would see the goods they produced go to foreign countries for consumption and they would in turn have their "printing press money" back home. They would be faced with the choice of feeding the money to the goat, or eating the goat, or going into foreign markets and bidding against others for goods to bring home. The cost of transportation of goods which they had produced, plus the competitive prices they had to pay would have left them with much less goods than they originally had.

The same holds true in the United States. We cannot print our way out of debt. We have to work and deliver the product of our work, or at least a portion of it. I hope this will not be confusing to those who are seeking a little light on where our nation stands financially. What money actually is, is beyond me. There are many things I don't know about, but I cannot see any short cut out of national debt.

Editor Register:
Dear Sir: In the Tues. Jan. 4th Register, I read an article about the family heirloom of the J. F. Grandy family of Westminster; I wondered if the great actor, Edwin Booth, was a relative of the Booth family mentioned. I have a photograph, said to be that of Edwin Booth, and my father saw him and his brother J. Wilkes, several times. I have an old scrap book of my grandmothers, and these are titles of articles of interest—"A Suppressed Letter of J. Wilkes Booth," "Wilkes Booth's Physician," "Funeral of Five Lincoln Assassins," "Lincoln as a Young Lawyer," "Death of Morgan," "Edgar A. Poe," "Story of the Richmond Theater Fire," "Picture of Belva A. Lockwood," "The Lees of Virginia," "The Dry Tortugas," "Washington's Wedding," and many other pieces and poems; the book must have been made a short while after the Civil War. I also have grandmothers' family Bible, (with apocryphy) published by Leavitt & Allen, New York, some small worked samplers she made, an autograph album of my aunts, with autograph of General McLaws, and Confederate soldiers. I have a copy of the New Boston, Ill., Herald of July 22, 1865, with an account of the execution of the four Lincoln conspirators; on the inside page is the story of the burning of Barnum's museum.

I have several Confederate bills, one for $50.00, which I would gladly (O! so gladly) exchange for good old U. S. A. cash if I could! Both of my father's parents were ardent Southerners, with three sons who were soldiers. My husband's father was a Northern soldier, and among his effects was the picture of Jeff Davis, all dressed up in women's clothes! which I have. I also have a great many old pictures, some of them taken on "looking glass." I do not know how

VARICOSE VEINS CAUSED BY PRESSURE WHICH WEAKENS BLOOD VESSEL VALVES

We know that the blood vessels in the legs dilate or become varicose because of increased pressure. This may be due to pressure on large veins higher up in the body as a result of swelling of the various organs.

For example, there is frequently increased pressure in the abdomen as a result of the processes of childbirth. The elasticity of the walls of the veins break down under the continuous pressure and frequently varicose veins of the legs are found in women after childbirth.

In some persons varicose veins develop because their occupations keep them constantly on their feet, increasing the pressure in the veins. The veins in the legs have valves which are able to take care of the weight of the blood under ordinary conditions, but which eventually break down under long continued or too great pressure.

Various means have been developed for determining the qualities of the circulation so that it is possible to find out whether it is safe to do an operation involving the tying off of the large veins or whether it is safe to obliterate the smaller veins with various injections.

The physician must make certain first of all that the blood vessels deep in the tissues and not on the surface are capable of carrying on the circulation after the surface veins have been blocked. If he does not do this, serious damage may result.

Certainly it is not safe to do such operations in people who are quite old and who have had the varicose veins for many years.

It is not advisable to use any procedure which may result in a permanent inflammation or damage to the tissues. In many instances immediately following the blocking of the veins, the results may seem perfect and later troubles result which are far worse than the appearance of the veins for which the operation or the injection is performed.

While the danger to life in such work is not exceedingly great, the danger of disability must be considered.

With the numerous experiments now being carried on in various hospitals, it is quite likely that still greater improvements will come about in the technique and in the substances used.

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Mr. R seems to be building up for a new business-rabbit extraction. The sound and fury from Washington since the Jackson-Ickes foxhounds were unleashed upon the wolves of Wall Street has an old familiar lilt. To those who know the Roosevelt technique, it sounds suspiciously like a new and better NRA is coming.

The President has specifically warned against resurrection of those well buried letters. But he has once suggested business should get around a price-production control table with the government. He has again hinted his conferences with General Motors the Knudsen may lead to something. He has promised a new anti-trust or monopoly control law; has mentioned he likes the Borah-O'Mahoney bill a little better this year than last, etc., etc., etc.

But don't trust your ears too far. The build-up really looks from the inside like a sound-out. The President seems to be writing the music as he goes along.

If he has a definite conclusion he has kept it from his various leaders and callers who have discussed the subject with him. In fact, trustworthy inside information is available that there is no plan.

The cue music itself seems to have changed key lately. The Jackson-Ickes note was not followed through. In the Jackson Day battle hymn, the President, you may have noticed, invited anyone who has a plan to drop in to see him sometime.

The inside story of what has happened to date is told by a trusted authority as follows:

The Jackson-Ickes howl was to have opened the way for a series of echoes. The justice department was supposed to come along with immediate recommendations for anti-trust law revision. The Federal Trade commission was to report the price situation was so bad a congressional investigation would be necessary. The investigation was to have been started.

But the Jackson-Ickes speeches did not go over very well. Even some of the President's best friends told him that. Word of the prospective investigation leaked out.

Backfire developed. Senator Borah, originator of the anti-monopoly issue, spoke out against that course. He said if half what Jackson and Ickes claimed, was really true, no investigation was necessary. While Borah is hardly a White House adviser, his views on this issue have been some of the President's best guides in the past.

This threw the music back to the prelude again. Mr. R. will vamo on that 'til ready.

Another agent in need of a plan is the Byrnes committee investigating the depression.

Committeemen are keeping their official opinions to themselves, but inquiry has proceeded far enough to give them some straight views on the existing situation.

For one thing, it is evident to them that they cannot cure a lack of business confidence by passing a law. The old hypodermic needle seems to have lost its potency. If the unemployment situation is to be solved somebody must come forward with a more tangible suggestion than has been made so far. The suggestions made by Bill (Green and General Wood are not enough, but not new or entirely feasible. No one seems to be able to diagnose the sure cause of prescribe the sure cure in a satisfactory way.

Committeemen have not given up hope. They are going to call on the chemical, textile, railroad, steel, coal, agriculture and other industries in hopes that after all the evidence is in, someone will be smart enough to figure it out.

The southern compromise of the wage-hours bill is to be offered in the house today (Tuesday) by Representative Dies. It will provide a 40 cent minimum and a 40 hour maximum, with a sharp differential. Under the differential the lowest wages possible would be 25 cents and the highest number of hours would be 44. The differential would be made operative by state agencies without federal administration. Northern Democrats will not commit themselves until they study it, but it has strong backing which will cause it to be given serious consideration.

An elderly dignified lady approached the senate gallery reserved for families and friends of senators and officials the other day. A guard politely restrained her, told her the gallery was reserved, and she must go to the public gallery. The lady smiled, said nothing, walked away.

Another attendant dashed over to his colleague and asked: "Good heavens, do you know who you turned away?"

"No," said the guard, "I never saw her before."

"Well," said the first guard, she was once first lady of the land, wife of a governor general of the Philippines, a secretary of war, and a chief justice of the United States—Mrs. William Howard Taft."

They dashed after her, but they were too late. Mrs. Taft had eluded the guard through throngs of tourists and sightseers and taken a seat in the public library. A few years ago they would have craned their necks to see her. Now none was aware of her presence.

Time, as you may have heard, marches on.

sign them to the rubbish heap! Still I think such a hobby would be both instructive and entertaining. Hoping you will pardon this lengthy, and hasty letter and find it of some interest.

Mrs. David Russell.
